THE SUNDAY MEETINGS

The Assembly at 3 O'clock
Simply Wonderful.

WHAT ALL MEN SURELY BELIEVE

The Sea of Men's Faces Was a Wonderful Sight—The Evangelist Spoke Plain Words of Truth—Weeden's Sweet Singing a Feature—The Meeting at Night a Rouser—The Bible in the Schools.

The rink was packed yesterday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, main body and gallery, and the sight was a wonderful one. The very best of order prevailed, and the evangelist was accorded the closest attention, as he sounded notes of warning against outbreathing sins with which this city, in common with other communities, is cursed and blighted. Mr. Weeden, the sweet singer, known to many in this city, and who has been associated in other sections with Evangelist Schiverea, has charge of the choir and of the song service. He also rendered solos at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. He will remain in control of the singing during the meetings, and will no doubt prove a power for good. Rev. Whitehead presided at the organ yesterday afternoon. The singing was exceptionally fine, the strong voices of the great mass of men ringing out like an inspiration. Several selections of song were rendered, and Weeden gave as a solo, "Throw out the life line." Rev. Lee led in prayer, followed with a song by the male quartette, Elder Moore at the organ. Rev. Taggart then led in prayer, after which came the announcement that, on next Saturday night, March 15th, the body of the rink will be reserved for men, with the women in the gallery. On that occasion the evangelist will take as his subject, "Work and wages." At the men's meeting on next Sabbath afternoon, the subject will be, "True manhood and how attained."

Weeden sang a selection entitled "My mother's prayer," written by the father of the singer. It is a pathetic song, and as rendered yesterday will do good, please God. After this the rink rang with that grand old song, "All hail the power of Jesus' name." The evangelist assumed charge and made an earnest request that every man present should remain until he was through talking, and asked a show of hands as responding in the affirmative. The hands came up, and he exclaimed, "Now you're here; stay here." Then he gave orders that the doors should be closed by the doorkeepers and no one allowed to enter, remarking, "Not even President Cleveland; tell him I'll see him after the meeting is over. And McKinley, oh yes, you may let him in—he's going to go in anyhow." Then came his talk, the subject being, "something all men believe in." We give a synopsis:

"We are here this afternoon not as Presbyterians, not as Methodists, not as Catholics, not as politicians, not as capitalists, not as laborers, we are here as representatives of the brotherhood of man. Listen, men. I do not believe that a single person will tell me, at the close of my talk, that he does not believe in my subject. I am here to tell about the Bible. Some men do not believe in the Bible. I was an unbeliever at one time. Listen to this, men, from the sixth chapter of Galatians and seventh verse: 'Be not deceived; God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.' Sowing and reaping. Every man is either good or bad. The one sows to the flesh, the other to the spirit. Each class or man knows what kind of seed he is sowing. One thing you may be sure of—you can't deceive God; you may deceive others, but God knows all about the matter and knows what the harvest will be. A man cannot deceive himself; it is impossible; he knows whether he is good or bad; God fearing or God blaspheming; for Jesus or against him; on the road to heaven or to hell. Conscience: what is it? It is God's voice to man's intelligence. Ask conscience as to the kind of seed you are sowing. Conscience is the governor—the regulator. Can you deaden or destroy this conscience? Certainly you can. In my wild life I would stay out late at night and found it difficult to get up in time in the morning; so I purchased an alarm clock; wound her up at night; next morning it went off with a smash and a rattle, saying, 'get up, get up, get up.' I got up. The next morning it acted precisely the same way, and I compromised by lying in bed 15 minutes longer. The next morning I compromised at 30 minutes. The fourth morning I didn't wake at all. Why? Simply because I had compromised and did not obey. Men become bad through disobeying conscience, and they are finally ready to commit every form of wrong and crime, even to murder.

"Then comes your influence. Every man has influence; right seed, right influence; wrong seed, wrong influence. Two men were beastly drunk; no, I'll take that back; the pig, the goat, the donkey, the monkey, they do not get drunk—they're too much sense for that; beg your pardon, monk. Two men came out of a saloon; they were very drunk; one fell down in the gutter, said: 'Tom, old boy, you won't leave me?' 'No, never, Jim,' says Tom, 'I'll lie down with you,' and he does so. You will come in contact with the man who is down. In God's name, men, don't lie down with them—lift them up; use your influence for good.

"Then comes experience. You know what this means. You know where you have been for the past 24 or 36 hours; for the past week. Have you been where you could take with you mother, wife, sister or daughter? Answer, men. Are you ashamed to have them go with you or not. My text tells me, 'as ye sow, so shall ye reap.' If I put my finger in the flame of the lamp, I must and will suffer. As in physical law, so in natural law. The farmer plants potatoes, one, two or three eyes in each hill. Ask him if he expects to get turnips, cabbage or peas for a crop, and he will say 'you're off. I'll get potatoes.' As in the natural law, so in the spiritual law. Sow strong drink and you'll reap the drunkard's doom, misery, remorse and an awful death. Visit our Keeley cures. There are the victims; they are men of keen intellect, business ability. One of the brightest men in Toronto sowed the rum seed and he reaped a blasted life; reaped delirium tremens; became a sot and a gutter drunkard; his friends rallied about him and sent him to the Keeley cure. God has been merciful to him, and he is now a saved man. The man who tipples is on the road to hell; 99 out of 100 times he fills a drunkard's grave and goes to a drunkard's hell. I'm not the enemy of the saloon keeper. God bless you, saloon keeper, if you are here today, I'm not your enemy. I love you. Do you know why I love you? Let me tell you. Because you have an immortal, priceless soul within you; because Jesus died for you. Yes, I love your soul and I want to see it saved, and I want to see your business sent to hell, where it belongs. Nothing on earth is doing so much harm as is this cursed rum traffic. A saloon keeper boasted, in the presence of a drunkard's wife, that he had cleared $1,000 in a week, and she made answer to him: 'You've made more than that; you've made a thousand wrecks; you've robbed me of my husband; you've destroyed my boy; you've taken my home and given me a hovel; you've filled prison cells; you've sent souls into a drunkard's hell; oh, my God, you've made more than a thousand dollars.'

"Gambling. Oh, the curse of it. Drunkenness and gambling—kindred curses. A young man came to me and said: 'Mr. Schiverea, I thank God you came into my life. The curse of gambling was upon me. I learned to play cards at home, with father, mother and sisters, and from that I went to gambling for money with boon companions. The other night we had one hundred dollars on the table. When the game was over they wanted me to come back and play all through Sunday. Thank God I was lead to your meetings, and Jesus saved my soul.' Gambling is going on in your clubs, in private rooms, in your hotels and in the back rooms of your saloons. Your billiard and your pool tables come under the same abominable head. Men, do you buck the tiger? I know what gambling is. I've been in all the big dens in Denver. I've been in dens where they take in $300,000 or $400,000 every year. I've seen the suckers fleeced. I've played myself, and this is how I came out. (The speaker turned his pockets inside out by way of explanation.) You can't get something for nothing in this nineteenth century. I have known a man, with this gambling mania upon him, threaten suicide in the presence of my mother, and knew him to drop dead shortly afterward, and a post mortem developed a shattered heart.

"Oh, the curse of licentiousness; the crime of adultery. You'll suffer for it, men. God says so. A miserable dude dared to tell me his modus operandi of hellish work with working girls. He met them at the public dance—the cursed dance—waltzed with them and after the dance took them to supper; wine was there, of course—drugged wine, and afterward the drive to a hotel or assignation house, and the innocent victim awoke to a life of shame, robbed of everything that an honest woman holds dear, to be cast aside when her hellish betrayer grew tired of her. Do you want to know what I said to that devil? I said to

WILL THE OLD BOOK STAND?

Will the Old Book stand, when the higher critics state, That grave errors are discovered on its page? Will it save the sinful soul, will it make the wounded whole? Will its glorious truths abide from age to age? Will its message still abide, when the scientist decide, That its record of creation is untrue? Tell us the "Descent of man" is by "Evolution's plan," Will its principles the sinful heart renew? When infidels parade, the mistakes which Moses made, When the truths of revelation they deny: Will the ten commandments still, the demands of justice fill? Will its Word sustain us when we come to die? When in language wondrous fair, Christian scientists declare, That there is no evil, only "mortal mind;" When "mental treatment" fails, and "seeming death" prevails, In the Bible may we consolation find? Yes, the Word of God will stand, tho' assailed on every hand. Its foundations are eternally secure. It will bear the critics test, and the idle scoffers jest; Its saving truths forever shall endure. —Ram's Horn.

him: 'You dog, if you'd so accomplish the ruin of my sister or daughter, I'd kill you as I would a cur.' You have men in this city of East Liverpool who are doing like hellish work, and the curse of God will surely rest upon you. There is a man in this rink now who has, for months past, been endeavoring to accomplish the ruin of a fair young girl, and she has appealed to friends to save her from him. I believe he is in this rink now. I think he walked down through the building a few minutes ago. I understand that he has boasted that he has accomplished his devilish design. If the coward has done so, then he deserves the hell he will get, and the girl whom he ruined will appear at the judgment seat against him. As he has sown, so shall he reap.

"There is an unmentionable crime or evil in existence in this fair land, which must be rooted out if possible. Its victims are principally boys, and it fills insane asylums all over the land. I was engaged in a talk of this kind in a Presbyterian church at one time, before an audience composed exclusively of men and boys, when an elder of the church came to the preacher who sat by my side, and said: 'Stop him, sir; stop him; there's my boy, only 14 years old, and I won't have him listening to such talk.' 'Nay, mon, nay,' replied the Scotch minister. 'If such talk had been given my boys, I might have had them with me now.' Not talk to our boys about their awful danger. Shame on such sickly sentimentality. Why men, my own bright boy, only 12 years of age, was approached by a vile companion, and my innocent lad came to me and asked me what the fellow meant. What did I do? Why, I took my boy and posted him fully, and I believe, thank God, that I've saved him. This evil is all around and about you, in every community. It is right here in East Liverpool, and in your public schools; and yet, great God, men, they are talking of keeping the Bible out of your schools; they must not, they dare not do it.

[And right here, in the midst of that mass of citizen voters, came the voice of the people respecting the book of books, as the building fairly rang with the handclapping which this sentiment caused, the applause lasting for fully half a minute. Tricky politicians, you who would meddle with the Bible, and who have attempted to stop the reading thereof in the schools of this city, you will do well to note the handwriting on the wall.—Ed.]

"Just as surely as you take the Bible out of your public schools, your children will be ruined. Take the Bible away from the children in these schools, and the moral tone will go down, down, down. I was christened a Roman Catholic, and I've got a right to talk to you Protestants respecting this vital matter.

"Keep out of bad company. There was a farmer who had a parrot which he prized very highly. This same farmer was annoyed very much by thieving crows, which persisted in taking up his newly planted corn. So he loaded up his trusty shot gun and laid for them, sending a double load into the ranks of the thieves and killing many of them. When he came to look over the battlefield, he was astounded to note his parrot with wings shattered with shot, and the bird at once commenced crying, 'Poor Polly, poor Polly.' 'Yes,' said the farmer, 'poor Polly; but that's what you get for keeping bad company.' Don't keep bad company, boys.

"A young man, 17 years of age, attended one of my meetings, went out and said: 'Schiverea can't bother me. I'm going to have a good time. Two years afterwards, when I was in a prison, speaking to the prisoners, as I entered a cell, that same boy fell on my neck and cried out: 'I know you, Schiverea. Two years ago I would not listen to you, and now I'm a murderer; only 19 years of age, and yet I've killed my man, and in a few hours I'll die on the gallows.' Oh, men, don't trifle—have a care, as ye sow, so shall ye also reap. 'A friend of mine, a bright fellow, laughed at me when I chose Jesus as my guide and told me that I was foolish to leave theatrical life, and said that he was going to have a good and gay time. A few years afterward he met me and took me to a miserable room, and there, laid out on a bare board, was his mother, and the bloated wreck by my side said: 'That's my mother, Schiverea, and I have no money to bury her.' Oh, men, what a man sows, that shall he also reap.

"A young friend of mine had a good situation; he was a splendid book-keeper, making good wages; he was persuaded to go to a gilded house of ill-fame. The enticements were such that he went, again and again. His expenses exceeded his income; he robbed his employer, in order to keep up the fast life, was detected and sentenced to six years in Sing Sing. As ye sow, so shall you reap."

Then the evangelist, in closing, asked all who desired to live a right and pure and clean life, with God's blessing back of it, to rise to their feet, and the sight was a grand one, as a great mass of men surged upward.

NIGHT SERVICE.
The audience was simply an astounding one. As early as 7 o'clock the building was packed, and Rev. John Lloyd Lee urged Christian men and women to make personal sacrifice by vacating their seats and adjourning to the overflow meeting at the First Presbyterian church. Many men and women responded. Schiverea spoke at the latter church early in the evening to a packed house, Reverends Whitehead and Huffer conducting the services.

At the rink, the usual song service prevailed, W. C. Weeden leading and rendering several solos in splendid voice. Prayers were offered by a number of ministers and laymen. Schiverea took control at 8:25, taking as his subject the 16th chapter of Acts, part of the 30th verse. "What must I do to be saved?" We can give but a synopsis, on account of limited space.

"What must you do? You must work for God, for right, for heaven. The reading of the blessed word of God has saved many souls. We need moral courage—courage to dare to do right, no matter what opposing influences may arise or surround us. Many men know the right, but don't dare to do it. The longer we live in sin, the harder it is to get away from it. Calamity often drives men to God when nothing else will do it. If God's love cannot reach you, then disaster must and will. A barkeeper in a place where I talked gave free drinks at his hotel, in order to keep men away from the meetings; he laughed and scoffed at men who came to hear me, telling them the whole thing was a sham; that when a man dies that's the end of him; there is no such thing as immortality and eternal life. He kept his wife from coming to hear me, tearing her shawl and bonnet from her and threatening to do her bodily harm if she disobeyed him. He laughed and jeered at the idea of salvation. This went on for some time, and then he got into a quarrel with some of his boon companions; they were too quick on the trigger for him and one of them sent a bullet through his body, within an inch of his heart, and he went down like a log. What was the first thing that foul-mouthed, blatant saloonkeeper did, men? Why he sent for me to come and pray with and for him, and when I came into his presence, where the life blood was dripping from his body, through the cruel bullet hole, he cried out in agony intense—'man, did you bring your Bible with you? For God's sake prepare me for death; quick, quick man, help me to die; there's a bullet hole within an inch of my heart?' Oh, men; it was an awful scene, and I never want to witness the like again. He didn't dare meet his God. In life and health he nooted at God, at salvation, at the blessed Bible, at the immortality of the soul; when struck down, and death stared him in the face, he dared to call upon the God he had denied and defied; oh, how contemptible. You want, in your sinful life, to live as that man did, and then use the mighty God as you would a fire escape—an escape from hell. We must not attempt to make ourselves one bit better—go to God just as we are and cast ourselves upon his mercy. Don't try to taper off, you hard drinkers or even moderate drinkers. Take your case, bad as it, to God, and ask him, for Jesus sake, to save you; he will in nowise cast you out. At Montreal, two years ago, a young man said he was going to 'lick' me for being too personal, when I had no reference to him at all; but I hit his case precisely. Men, I've been saved a whipping on many occasions through the fact that I'm broad shouldered, deep chested and of good average height, with healthy weight back of it. I went out to see that man, and he said to me: 'I'll fix you, you coward. What right had you to send out tickets inviting men here, and then go and look up my life and give me away before all that audience? How did you find out about me?' I assured him that I had no reference to him at all, personally, and knew nothing about his private life or character. Then a good Christian woman began to talk to him, urging him to come back to the meeting, stating that Schiverea was his warm friend and helper. In her earnestness she clasped his coat and struck a whisky bottle in his pocket. Then she faced him indignantly and said: 'Oh, you're a coward; you dare to talk about a good man the way you've been doing and let that awful stuff stand between you and your God.' Then the poor fellow broke down utterly and cried out: 'Yes, you're right, I'm a coward; that cursed stuff has destroyed my home, my character and my life, and has driven me out of that meeting and kept me from God's mercy. Then that good woman pleaded: 'Let me help you; oh, won't you let the curse go? Take and throw that bottle away and come into the meeting and ask the Master to save your soul.' Thank God, men, he yielded for the right, and mashed the bottle upon the pavement, and went into the meeting again. Whisky drinkers of East Liverpool, you know what is keeping you from Jesus; whisky, gambling, licentiousness. In the name of everything holy, drop them and come to Jesus.

"I went to a young man, seated by the side of a female companion, and asked him if he was concerned about his soul. He made reply that he was, that he was not a fool. Then he whispered to me that he was engaged to the young girl by his side and asked me to speak on the subject to her. I did so, and imagine my dismay when she replied that he was his own man, and that he could do as he pleased, but that she didn't want any Christianity in hers. I turned to him and pleaded with him to be a man, and seek his soul's salvation; but the poor softy was afraid of offending his girl. I had a girl of that kind at one time. I resolved to look to my soul's best salvation and I wrote her a letter, telling her what I was going to do, and telling her we must part unless she concluded to accompany me. She replied and made fun of me, telling me that I was foolish to talk such nonsense, and I dropped her. Did I become a broken-hearted, sorrowful looking, selfish old bachelor, sewing on my own buttons? Not much. God gave me a noble, great-hearted Christian wife, and tonight, praise his holy name, she is on her knees, with our three children, praying for husband and father.

"Don't you dare put off this matter until tomorrow. Now is the accepted time. A great big, fine looking young Hercules came to me not long since, all broke up and contrite and said: 'Schiverea, I was a great big coward not to give myself up to Jesus long ago.' There should be fear in this case men; fear him who can destroy both body and soul. It took me fifteen years to make up my mind; but, blessed be his holy name, Jesus pardoned me at last. When you decide you must right about face; you can't go in two directions at the same time. God says: 'Let the wicked man forsake his ways and the unrighteous man his thoughts.' Men, turn your back on hell and face heaven. Turn your back on drink and face sobriety. Turn your back on licentiousness and face purity; have clean hands and pure hearts, and then you will be happy—happy in time and in eternity. Jesus must be your personal Savior."

The people seemed to hate to leave the rink. A great mass remained for the after meeting and numbers rose for prayers. It was a wonderful meeting and good was accomplished. Go early to the rink tonight, if you would secure a seat. You have a warm invitation.

Because you have an immortal, priceless soul within you; because Jesus died for you. Yes, I love your soul and I want to see it saved, and I want to see your business sent to hell, where it belongs. Nothing on earth is doing so much harm as is this cursed rum traffic. A saloon keeper boasted, in the presence of a drunkard's wife, that he had cleared $1,000 in a week, and she made answer to him: 'You've made more than that; you've made a thousand wrecks; you've robbed me of my husband; you've destroyed my boy; you've taken my home and given me a hovel; you've filled prison cells; you've sent souls into a drunkard's hell; oh, my God, you've made more than a thousand dollars.'

"Gambling. Oh, the curse of it. Drunkenness and gambling—kindred curses. A young man came to me and said: 'Mr. Schiverea, I thank God you came into my life. The curse of gambling was upon me. I learned to play cards at home, with father, mother and sisters, and from that I went to gambling for money with boon companions. The other night we had one hundred dollars on the table. When the game was over they wanted me to come back and play all through Sunday. Thank God I was led to your meetings, and Jesus saved my soul.' Gambling is going on in your clubs, in private rooms, in your hotels and in the back rooms of your saloons. Your billiard and your pool tables come under the same abominable head. Men, do you buck the tiger? I know what gambling is. I've been in all the big dens in Denver. I've been in dens where they take in $300,000 or $400,000 every year. I've seen the suckers fleeced. I've played myself, and this is how I came out. (The speaker turned his pockets inside out by way of explanation.) You can't get something for nothing in this nineteenth century. I have known a man, with this gambling mania upon him, threaten suicide in the presence of my mother, and knew him to drop dead shortly afterward, and a post mortem developed a shattered heart.

"Oh, the curse of licentiousness; the crime of adultery. You'll suffer for it men. God says so. A miserable dude dared to tell me his modus operandi of hellish work with working girls. He met them at the public dance—the cursed dance—waltzed with them and after the dance took them to supper; wine was there, of course—drugged wine, and afterward the drive to a hotel or assignation house, and the innocent victim awoke to a life of shame, robbed of everything that an honest woman holds dear, to be cast aside when her hellish betrayer grew tired of her. Do you want to know what I said to that devil? I said to

Will the Old Book stand, when the higher critics state, That grave errors are discovered on its page? Will it save the sinful soul, will it make the wounded whole? Will its glorious truths abide from age to age? Will its message still abide, when the scientist decide, That its record of creation is untrue? Tell us the "Descent of man" is by "Evolution's plan." Will its principles the sinful heart renew? When infidels parade, the mistakes which Moses made, When the truths of revelation they deny: Will the ten commandments still, the demands of justice fill? Will its Word sustain us when we come to die? When in language wondrous fair, Christian scientists declare, That there is no evil, only "mortal mind," When "mental treatment" fails, and "seeing death" prevails, In the Bible may we consolation find? Yes, the Word of God will stand, tho' assailed on every hand. Its foundations are eternally secure. It will bear the critics test, and the idle scoffers jest; Its saving truths forever shall endure. —Ram's Horn.

him: 'You dog, if you'd so accomplish the ruin of my sister or daughter, I'd kill you as I would a cur.' You have men in this city of East Liverpool who are doing like hellish work, and the curse of God will surely rest upon you. There is a man in this rink now who has, for months past, been endeavoring to accomplish the ruin of a fair young girl, and she has appealed to friends to save her from him. I believe he is in this rink now. I think he walked down through the building a few minutes ago. I understand that he has boasted that he has accomplished his devilish design. If the coward has done so, then he deserves the hell he will get, and the girl whom he ruined will appear at the judgment seat against him. As he has sown, so shall he reap.

"There is an unmentionable crime or evil in existence in this fair land, which must be rooted out if possible. Its victims are principally boys, and it fills insane asylums all over the land. I was engaged in a talk of this kind in a Presbyterian church at one time, before an audience composed exclusively of men and boys, when an elder of the church came to the preacher who sat by my side, and said: 'Stop him, sir; stop him; there's my boy, only 14 years old, and I won't have him listening to such talk.' 'Nay, mon, nay,' replied the Scotch minister. 'If such talk had been given my boys, I might have had them wile me now.' Not talk to our boys about their awful danger. Shame on such sickly sentimentality. Why men, my own bright boy, only 12 years of age, was approached by a vile companion, and my innocent lad came to me and asked me what the fellow meant. What did I do? Why, I took my boy and posted him fully, and I believe, thank God, that I've saved him. This evil is all around and about you, in every community. It is right here in East Liverpool, and in your public schools; and yet, great God, men, they are talking of keeping the Bible out of your schools; they must not, they dare not do it.

[And right here, in the midst of that mass of citizen voters, came the voice of the people respecting the book of books, as the building fairly rang with the handclapping which this sentiment caused, the applause lasting for fully half a minute. Tricky politicians, you who would meddle with the Bible, and who have attempted to stop the reading thereof in the schools of this city, you will do well to note the handwriting on the wall.—Ed.]

"Just as surely as you take the Bible out of your public schools, your children will be ruined. Take the Bible away from the children in these schools, and the moral tone will go down, down, down. I was christened a Roman Catholic, and I've got a right to talk to you Protestants respecting this vital matter.

"Keep out of bad company. There was a farmer who had a parrot which he prized very highly. This same farmer was annoyed very much by thieving crows, which persisted in taking up his newly planted corn. So he loaded up his trusty shot gun and laid for them, sending a double load into the ranks of the thieves and killing many of them. When he came to look over the battlefield, he was astounded to note his parrot with wings shattered with shot, and the bird at once commenced crying, 'Poor Polly, poor Polly.' 'Yes,' said the farmer, 'poor Polly; but that's what you get for keeping bad company.' Don't keep bad company, boys.

"A young man, 17 years of age, attended one of my meetings, went out and said: 'Schiverea can't bother me. I'm going to have a good time. Two years afterwards, when I was in a prison, speaking to the prisoners, as I entered a cell, that same boy fell on my neck and cried out: 'I know you, Schiverea. Two years ago I would not listen to you, and now I'm a murderer; only 19 years of age, and yet I've killed my man, and in a few hours I'll die on the gallows.' Oh, men, don't trifle—have a care, as ye sow, so shall ye also reap. 'A friend of mine, a bright fellow, laughed at me when I chose Jesus as my guide and told me that I was foolish to leave theatrical life, and said that he was going to have a good and gay time. A few years afterward he met me and took me to a miserable room, and there, laid out on a bare board, was his mother, and the bloated wreck by my side said: 'That's my mother, Schiverea, and I have no money to bury her.' Oh, men, what a man sows, that shall he also reap. 'A young friend of mine had a good situation; he was a splendid book-keeper, making good wages; he was persuaded to go to a gilded house of ill-fame. The enticements were such that he went, again and again. His expenses exceeded his income; he robbed his employer, in order to keep up the fast life, was detected and sentenced to six years in Sing Sing. As ye sow, so shall you reap.'

Then the evangelist, in closing, asked all who desired to live a right and pure and clean life, with God's blessing back of it, to rise to their feet, and the sight was a grand one, as a great mass of men surged upward.

NIGHT SERVICE.

The audience was simply an astounding one. As early as 7 o'clock the building was packed, and Rev. John Lloyd Lee urged Christian men and women to make personal sacrifice by vacating their seats and adjourning to the overflow meeting at the First Presbyterian church. Many men and women responded. Schiverea spoke at the latter church early in the evening to a packed house, Reverends Whitehead and Huffer conducting the services.

At the rink, the usual song service prevailed, W. C. Weeden leading and rendering several solos in splendid voice. Prayers were offered by a number of ministers and laymen. Schiverea took control at 8:25, taking as his subject the 16th chapter of Acts, part of the 30th verse. "What must I do to be saved?" We can give but a synopsis, on account of limited space.

"What must you do? You must work for God, for right, for heaven. The reading of the blessed word of God has saved many souls. We need moral courage—courage to dare to do right, no matter what opposing influences may arise or surround us. Many men know the right, but don't dare to do it. The longer we live in sin, the harder it is to get away from it. Calamity often drives men to God when nothing else will do it. If God's love cannot reach you, then disaster must and will. A barkeeper in a place where I talked gave free drinks at his hotel, in order to keep men away from the meetings; he laughed and scoffed at men who came to hear me, telling them the whole thing was a sham; that when a man dies that's the end of him; there is no such thing as immortality and eternal life. He kept his wife from coming to hear me, tearing her shawl and bonnet from her and threatening to do her bodily harm if she disobeyed him. He laughed and jeered at the idea of salvation. This went on for some time, and then he got into a quarrel with some of his boon companions; they were too quick on the trigger for him and one of them sent a bullet through his body, within an inch of his heart, and he went down like a log. What was the first thing that alog-mouthed, blatant saloonkeeper did, men? Why he sent for me to come and pray with and for him, and when I came into his presence, where the life blood was dripping from his body, through the cruel bullet hole, he cried out in agony intense—'man, did you bring your Bible with you? For God's sake prepare me for death; quick, quick man, help me to die; there's a bullet hole within an inch of my heart?' Oh, men; it was an awful scene, and I never want to witness the like again. He didn't dare meet his God, at salvation, at the blessed Bible, at the immortality of the soul; when struck down, and death stared him in the face, he dared to call upon the God he had denied and defied; oh, how contemptible. You want, in your sinful life, to live as that man did, and then use the mighty God as you would a fire escape—an escape from hell. We must not attempt to make ourselves one bit better—go to God just as we are and cast ourselves upon his mercy. Don't try to taper off, you hard drinkers or even moderate drinkers. Take your case, bad as it, to God, and ask him, for Jesus sake, to save you; he will in nowise cast you out. At Montreal, two years ago, a young man said he was going to 'lick' me for being too personal, when I had no reference to him at all; but I hit his case precisely. Men, I've been saved a whipping on many occasions through the fact that I'm broad shouldered, deep-chested and of good average height, with healthy weight back of it. I went out to see that man, and he said to me: 'I'll fix you, you coward. What right had you to send out tickets inviting men here, and then go and look up my life and give me away before all that audience? How did you find out about me?' I assured him that I had no reference to him at all, personally, and knew nothing about his private life or character. Then a good Christian woman began to talk to him, urging him to come back to the meeting, stating that Schiverea was his warm friend and helper. In her earnestness she clasped his coat and struck a whisky bottle in his pocket. Then she faced him indignantly and said: 'Oh, you're a coward; you dare to talk about a good man the way you've been doing and let that awful stuff stand between you and your God.' Then the poor fellow broke down utterly and cried out: 'Yes, you're right, I'm a coward; that cursed stuff has destroyed my home, my character and my life, and has driven me out of that meeting and kept me from God's mercy. Then that good woman pleaded: 'Let me help you; oh, won't you let the curse go? Take and throw that bottle away and come into the meeting and ask the Master to save your soul.' Thank God, men, he yielded for the right, and mashed the bottle upon the pavement, and went into the meeting again. Whisky drinkers of East Liverpool, you know what is keeping you from Jesus; whisky, gambling, licentiousness. In the name of everything holy, drop them and come to Jesus.

"I went to a young man, seated by the side of a female companion, and asked him if he was concerned about his soul. He made reply that he was, that he was not a fool. Then he whispered to me that he was engaged to the young girl by his side and asked me to speak on the subject to her. I did so, and imagine my dismay when she replied that he was his own man, and that he could do as he pleased, but that she didn't want any Christianity in hers. I turned to him and pleaded with him to be a man, and seek his soul's salvation; but the poor softy was afraid of offending his girl. I had a girl of that kind at one time. I resolved to look to my soul's best salvation and I wrote her a letter, telling her what I was going to do, and telling her we must part unless she concluded to accompany me. She replied and made fun of me, telling me that I was foolish to talk such nonsense, and I dropped her. Did I become a broken-hearted, sorrowful looking, selfish old bachelor, sewing on my own buttons? Not much. God gave me a noble, great-hearted Christian wife, and tonight, praise his holy name, she is on her knees, with our three children, praying for husband and father.

"Don't you dare put off this matter until tomorrow. Now is the accepted time. A great big, fine looking young Hercules came to me not long since, all broke up and contrite and said: 'Schiverea, I was a great big coward not to give myself up to Jesus long ago.' There should be fear in this case men; fear him who can destroy both body and soul. It took me fifteen years to make up my mind; but, blessed be his holy name, Jesus pardoned me at last. When you decide you must right about face; you can't go in two directions at the same time. God says: 'Let the wicked man forsake his ways and the unrighteous man his thoughts.' Men, turn your back on hell and face heaven. Turn your back on drink and face sobriety. Turn your back on licentiousness and face purity; have clean hands and pure hearts, and then you will be happy—happy in time and in eternity. Jesus must be your personal Savior."

The people seemed to hate to leave the rink. A great mass remained for the after meeting and numbers rose for prayers. It was a wonderful meeting and good was accomplished. Go early to the rink tonight, if you would secure a seat. You have a warm invitation.

To Nominate a Ticket.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
OF Ohio.

SPAIN.

The Dons at Barcelona are very hot-headed, and some of them have been extremely insulting to Uncle Sam's representatives at that point. They may carry their zeal to such a point as to overstep the bounds, and compel Uncle Sam to give the bluffers a call down in unmistakable terms.

MCKINLEY.

How the presidential aspirants are waging war against him. He is the choice of the people, and politicians recognize the fact and will naturally center their forces against him. The masses of the people, merchants, mechanics, laborers, farmers, claim McKinley as their chosen leader; as the man who advocates home and home industries; as the man who will, under Providence, bring prosperity to this great nation, and lift the blight and disaster which incompetent and blundering Democratic leaders have builded up as a wall against it. Yes, McKinley is the man for the people, and we hope to see him win the nomination and occupy the presidential chair.

STAND FROM UNDER.

Politicians in this city who stand in the way of Bible reading in our public schools of East Liverpool will do well to have a care. They can fool some of the people all the time; they can fool all of the people some of the time; but they can't fool all the people all the time. Some of the people of this city were fooled by them in a deal made not long since; but the game had better not be tried in this Bible matter. The proper place to stop all such deals is at the primaries. Place good men and good women, advocates of the Bible and of its reading in the public schools, on the ticket, and then let the men and women of East Liverpool rally to their support in overwhelming numbers. The program must be put through on the basis of "wise as serpents and harmless as doves." Watch out for trickery all the way through. Committees must see that there is no skullduggery, and the men who even dare attempt such trickery should be marked for life. Men have boasted that they can run on the "no-Bible-in-the-public-schools" ticket and be elected. We do not believe they can by fair means, and they must not be allowed to use foul means. God uses his instrumentalities to "ROLL AWAY the stone," and he will not be mocked. Let tricky politicians have a care. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap." Turn on the light, and keep its flame shining into the secret and dark places. Sound the warning.

LETTER WRITING.

Communications for the press should be carefully scanned and closely considered by an individual before publication, especially on matters of vital import to that individual and to the public at large. Mr. M. E. Golding is a public servant, entrusted with the interests of that public, and is therefore a subject of public criticism, even through the columns of the press. The writer has no personal ill will against M. E. Golding; on the contrary, he has always held him in high esteem. Communications have rolled into the News Review office, denouncing, in unstinted terms, the board of education for daring to bar the reading of the Bible, by the teachers to the pupils, in our public schools, and many of them have not been published because of harsh expressions used therein, although the writer's names were signed thereto. Granting that M. E. Golding is conscientious in his opposition to reading the Bible in the schools, even then he did an extremely foolish thing in advocating the same in the press, and his very best friends in East Liverpool regret that he did not first write said communication, then read it over carefully and then burn it, for it will certainly rise up in judgment against him. He claims to love the Bible, and he has been reading and teaching it to children for years, and it is simply astounding that he should find the inspired word of God, at this late day, an objectionable book to read to the little ones, and seek to replace God's word by a book of fables, (God save the mark) concocted by poor human understanding.

SPRING SUITS.

ADVANCE STYLES IN MEN'S SUITS.

We want you to see the new styles. We want to show you the right clothes at the right prices.

No difference where you have been trading, come in and look at our tailor made garments. It can't do any harm, and you ought to see the clothing that so many people have been talking about.

We carry no sweat-shop-made clothing to make a burrah sale of—$25 suits at $12.50, $20 suits at $10, etc., or new spring goods just received. The merchant might have been to East Broadway, or to some shirt makers, but from a legitimate manufacturer or a merchant of repute, no such prices can be had.

HUMBUGGING THE PEOPLE—FAKE SALES

Are all right to advertise, but a legitimate dealer won't do it. A great many customers like our store because it is headquarters for certain makes of Men's and Boys' Clothing, celebrated for style and quality all over the land. These are the same goods kept by leading stores in the large cities, and nowhere are they sold lower than here. Whatever the price you want to pay, you will find here honest value, style, fit and satisfaction for your money. We do the very best we can by every customer who comes into the store, and are always glad to show our goods and compare our prices.

Parents, it is a treat to see our novelties in Children's Suits. Entirely new styles; all-wool goods. $1.23, $1.98, $2.48, $2.98

THE BOOTH'S NEW ARMY

An Inaugural Rally Held In New York.

AN IMMENSE CROWD PRESENT.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The inaugural step made by Ballington Booth, the deposed commander of the Salvation Army in America, in a rival organization on lines similar to the one from whose command he has been relieved, met with success Sunday night. Cooper Union was the scene where the first gun was fired, the echo of which thrilled the hearts of 5,000 loyal soldiers who since the commencement of the international strife which has sundered Ballington Booth's allegiance to his father, General Booth of London, have remained loyal to the deposed commander and his wife, Maud Booth. Every seat in the big auditorium was occupied. The aisles were crowded and the streets outside were thronged.

Major Peter Glen, who was among the first of the officers to tender his resignation after Eva C. Booth had taken command, appeared on the platform, waving an American flag and placed a life-size crayon painting of George Washington on an easel in front of the speaker's table. This was the signal for renewed outbursts of applause. It was only when Ballington Booth and his wife arrived from their Mont Clair home that the audience lost control of itself. Their presence on the platform was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm, such as had never before been witnessed in Cooper Union.

There was some music and considerable singing and the customary religious invocations, after which Ballington Booth rose and said:

Mrs. Booth and myself have not come here tonight to allude to the recent sad trouble. It is quite true we have after mature deliberation decided to inaugurate a new movement. Could we have avoided it, it would most assuredly have been done on our part; but recognizing that the great American people believed that we had done a work for which they were gratified and would not listen to the protest that we would retire into private life. Recognizing as we did the largest field in the world, and still further recognizing that there was room in America for one, two, aye 100 Salvation Armies, we have resolved to the best of our ability to win over the middle classes of the artisan community of this country. We wish no strife with the Salvation Army—no strife either literal or verbal.

I believe that the failure of the so-called religious organizations of the present day is that they do not come down to the living places where Jesus Christ wants to be represented.

I want to assure Mrs. Booth and those officers who have stood by me that I see in the distance a movement which to night has received its impetus in this great gathering. I do not want anything that exists in the air, but a genuine consecration of our soldiers to the faith of Christ.

There is at least 60 per cent of the wage-earning populace of the community who are not identified with any church, place of religious worship.

One of the Ways of Using It.

Sore Throat

Sore Mouth, Croup and Quinsy.

50c and 25c. All Druggists.

THE TONSILINE COMPANY,

CANTON, O.

It is there we want to reach and extend to them the love that inspired the Nazarene on the streets of Jerusalem, nearly 1,900 years ago.

Oh! how much hateology and how little heartology there is today. Mrs. Booth and myself have within the last few days been reading the history of that great American soldier, George Washington, whose portrait stands on the platform to night. We thought of him and his goodness of heart and love for Christ as he turned away for a moment from the frightful scenes of Valley Forge and repaired to the woods, where he knelt in prayer to the God of his country.

Whatever be the mission we undertake it will bear the right stamp and will be directed in the right direction.

Robbed by Convicts In Prison.

WAUPUN, Wis., March 9.—A wholesale robbery of the penitentiary contract firm by convicts in the Wisconsin prison has been discovered. Convicts engaged in the robbery received money, various luxuries and liquor in exchange for goods. Discoveries have been made which led to the arrest of Arthur Miller, a farmer living near the prison, and Fremont Fairbank, a farmhand.

Wife and Savings Gone.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 9.—Mrs. Lauderman, wife of Thomas Lauderman of Waverly, this county, has mysteriously disappeared, as has also a considerable amount of money, the savings of Lauderman. The officers here are on the lookout for the woman, and a man whose identity is known, as they have reason to believe that it is an elopement.

To Ask For an Advance.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., March 9.—At the miners' mass meeting held here resolutions were adopted declaring in favor of asking for an advance of 10 cents on and after April 1, and steps were taken to bring about a union of all miners in Central Pennsylvania to the end that the demand might be made general.

Not Engaged to Lady Churchill.

LONDON, March 9.—Vanity Fair this week denies the accuracy of the story which it is responsible for circulating that the engagement of Mr. William Waldorf Astor to Lady Randolph Churchill (formerly Miss Jennie Jerome of New York) will shortly be announced.

Kenrick's Remains Lie In State.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—The remains of Archbishop Kenrick have been received from the Archdiocese on East Linden Boulevard to the cathedral on Walnut street, where they will lie in state until Wednesday, when the funeral will be held.

Honors to Ben Franklin.

PARIS, March 9.—The Historical society at Passy on Sunday placed a tablet on the house which Benjamin Franklin occupied there in 1776.

In Memory of Tennyson.

LONDON, March 9.—The money to erect a beacon on a Freshwater Denny, as a memorial to the late Lord Tennyson, has now been subscribed.

A Merchant Murdered.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Stephen Powell a well known merchant of Hempstead, L. I., has been struck down and killed within a few feet of his own door by unknown persons, probably for the purpose of robbery. The murdered man, who was 70 years of age, was returning home after closing his shoe store shortly before midnight.

Sues For Losses at Poker.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 9.—W. J. Bell, a wealthy Doddridge oil man, has entered suit against L. N. Logan and the Manhattan club for $300 lost on a poker game at the club. As the Manhattan club numbers among its members many leading business and society men, the suit creates a sensation.

Convicted on a Peculiar Charge.

DULUTH, March 9.—William Craig, formerly superintendent of the Duluth Gas and Water company, has been indicted for manslaughter in the second degree for furnishing impure and disease-breeding water to Harry W. Smith, thus causing his death by typhoid fever.

Five Workmen Severely Burned.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Five workmen, employed by the Standard Oil company at Bayonne, N. J., have been severely burned by the overflow of boiling tar from one of the big tanks at the company's yards.

Wrecked Students Picked Up.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9.—Hamilton Gail and John Catron, the St. John's college students who were swamped in the naphtha launch, have been picked up by a steamer and landed at Cambridge, Md.

REAR ADMIRAL WALKER DEAD.

He Was a Hero of the Mexican and Civil Wars.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Rear Admiral Henry Walker has died at his home in Brooklyn. Henry Walker was born in Virginia 88 years ago. When quite young the deceased was taken to Ohio, receiving his education at the Chilli-cothe academy. In 1827 he became a midshipman in the navy, being assigned to the frigate Alert, under the command of Lieutenant Farragut.

He was present at the surrender of Vera Cruz, during the Mexican war, being executive officer of the brig Vesuvius. During the war of the rebellion, he commanded the gunboats Taylor and Lexington and protected General Grant's army while it was making its retreat in the transports. He was also at the battle of Fort Henry in charge of the gunboat Carondelet. He was successful in getting the Carondelet past Island Number Ten on April 4, 1862, while the enemy's shots fell on it like hail. He for this piece of work was honorably mentioned. In 1863 for his bravery he was made a captain; in 1866, commodore, and a rear admiral in 1870. One year later he retired, having the proud distinction of being the first officer to do so voluntarily to give the younger men a chance.

BIG STEAMER LONG OVERDUE.

A Pacific Mail Liner Missing With 156 People on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company's liner, the City of Rio de Janeiro, which left this port for the Orient heavily laden on the 6th of last month, should have arrived at Yokohama on Feb. 23, yet not a word has been heard from her. At least the agents of the company declare they have received information of no sort regarding the steamer's welfare or whereabouts since she glided out of the bay on the afternoon of Feb. 6. The Rio left here with 156 people on board all told. Of these four were cabin passengers and there were in the steerage 10 Europeans, 10 Japanese and 22 Chinese. The crew consisted of 30 white people and 79 Chinese.

THE HOUSE SESSION.

Contested Elections and Appropriation Bills to Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The house this week will continue work on the appropriations bills and dispose of one, possibly two of the contested election cases. The postoffice appropriation bill will, it is thought, be passed today. The naval appropriation bill is the next supply bill in order.

During the week the Aldrich-Robbins case from the Fourth Alabama district, the report of which is against the Democratic contestant, will be called up, and if time is offered the report of the committee in the Benoit-Boatner case from the Fifth Louisiana declaring the seat occupied by Mr. Boatner vacant will also be taken up.

A New Italian Cabinet.

THE NEWS REVIEW.

OFFICIAL PAPER OF EAST LIVERPOOL, O.

PUBLISHED DAILY EXCEPT SUNDAY BY THE NEWS REVIEW COMPANY. HARRY PALMER, Business Manager. THOS. W. MORRIS, Editor. (Entered as second class matter at the East Liverpool, O., postoffice.)

VOLUME 11. NUMBER 228

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, MARCH 9.

For President, WILLIAM MCKINLEY, Of Ohio.

SPAIN.

The Dons at Barcelona are very hot-headed, and some of them have been extremely insulting to Uncle Sam's representatives at that point. They may carry their zeal to such a point as to overstep the bounds, and compel Uncle Sam to give the bluffers a call down in unmistakable terms.

MCKINLEY.

How the presidential aspirants are waging war against him. He is the choice of the people, and politicians recognize the fact and will naturally center their forces against him. The masses of the people, merchants, mechanics, laborers, farmers, claim McKinley as their chosen leader; as the man who advocates home and home industries; as the man who will, under Providence, bring prosperity to this great nation, and lift the blight and disaster which incompetent and blundering Democratic leaders have piled up as a wall against it. Yes, McKinley is the man for the people, and we hope to see him win the nomination and occupy the presidential chair.

STAND FROM UNDER.

Politicians in this city who stand in the way of Bible reading in our public schools of East Liverpool will do well to have a care. They "can fool some of the people all the time; they can fool all of the people some of the time; but they can't fool all the people all the time." Some of the people of this city were fooled by them in a deal made not long since; but the game had better not be tried in this Bible matter. The proper place to stop all such deals is at the primaries. Place good men and good women, advocates of the Bible and of its reading in the public schools, on the ticket, and then let the men and women of East Liverpool rally to their support in overwhelming numbers. The program must be put through on the basis of "wise as serpents and harmless as doves." Watch out for trickery all the way through. Committees must see that there is no skullduggery, and the men who even dare attempt such trickery should be marked for life. Men have boasted that they can run on the "no-Bible-in-the-public-schools" ticket and be elected. We do not believe they can by fair means, and they must not be allowed to use foul means. God uses his instrumentalities to "ROLL AWAY the stone," and he will not be mocked. Let tricky politicians have a care. "As ye sow, so shall ye reap." Turn on the light, and keep its flame shining into the secret and dark places. Sound the warning.

LETTER WRITING.

Communications for the press should be carefully scanned and closely considered by an individual before publication, especially on matters of vital import to that individual and to the public at large. Mr. M. E. Golding is a public servant, entrusted with the interests of that public, and is therefore a subject of public criticism, even through the columns of the press. The writer has no personal ill will against Mr. E. Golding; on the contrary, he has always held him in high esteem. Communications have rolled into the News Review office, denouncing, in untainted terms, the board of education for daring to bar the reading of the Bible, by the teachers to the pupils, in our public schools, and many of them have not been published because of harsh expressions used therein, although the writer's names were signed thereto. Granting that Mr. E. Golding is conscientious in his opposition to reading the Bible in the schools, even then he did an extremely foolish thing in advocating the same in the press, and his very best friends in East Liverpool regret that he did not first write said communication, then read it over carefully and then burn it, for it will certainly rise up in judgment against him. He claims to love the Bible, and he has been reading and teaching it to children for years, and it is simply astounding that he should find the inspired word of God, at this late day, an objectionable book to read to the little ones, and seek to replace God's word by a book of oaths, (God save the mark) concocted by poor human understanding.

SPRING SUITS.

ADVANCE STYLES IN MEN'S SUITS.

We want you to see the new styles. We want to show you the right clothes at the right prices. No difference where you have been trading, come in and look at our tailor made garments. It can't do any harm, and you ought to see the clothing that so many people have been talking about. We carry no sweat-shop-made clothing to make a hurrah sale of—$25 suits at $12.50, $20 suits at $10, etc., or new spring goods just received. The merchant might have been to East Broadway, or to some shirt makers, but from a legitimate manufacturer or a merchant of repute, no such prices can be had.

HUMBUGGING THE PEOPLE---FAKE SALES

Are all right to advertise, but a legitimate dealer won't do it. A great many customers like our store because it is headquarters for certain makes of Men's and Boys' Clothing, celebrated for style and quality all over the land. These are the same goods kept by leading stores in the large cities, and nowhere are they sold lower than here. Whatever the price you want to pay, you will find here honest value, style, fit and satisfaction for your money. We do the very best we can by every customer who comes into the store, and are always glad to show our goods and compare our prices.

Parents, it is a treat to see our novelties in Children's Suits. Entirely new styles; all-wool goods. $1.23, $1.98, $2.48, $2.98

THE BOOTH'S NEW ARMY

An Inaugural Rally Held In New York.

AN IMMENSE CROWD PRESENT.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The inaugural step made by Ballington Booth, the deposed commander of the Salvation Army in America, in a rival organization on lines similar to the one from whose command he has been relieved, met with success Sunday night. Cooper Union was the scene where the first gun was fired, the echo of which thrilled the hearts of 5,000 loyal soldiers who since the commencement of the international strife which has sundered Ballington Booth's allegiance to his father, General Booth of London, have remained loyal to the deposed commander and his wife, Maud Booth. Every seat in the big auditorium was occupied. The aisles were crowded and the streets outside were thronged.

Major Peter Glen, who was among the first of the officers to tender his resignation after Eva C. Booth had taken command, appeared on the platform, waving an American flag and placed a life-size crayon painting of George Washington on an easel in front of the speaker's table. This was the signal for renewed outbursts of applause. It was only when Ballington Booth and his wife arrived from their Mont Clair home that the audience lost control of itself. Their presence on the platform was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm, such as had never before been witnessed in Cooper Union.

There was some music and considerable singing and the customary religious invocations, after which Ballington Booth rose and said:

Mrs. Booth and myself have not come here tonight to allude to the recent sad trouble. It is quite true we have after mature deliberation decided to inaugurate a new movement. Could we have avoided it, it would most assuredly have been done on our part; but recognizing that the great American people believed that we had done a work for which they were grateful and would not listen to the protest that we would retire into private life.

Recognizing as we did the largest field in the world, and still further recognizing that there was room in America for one, two, are 100 Salvation Armies, we have resolved to the best of our ability to win over the middle classes of the artisan community of this country. We wish no strife with the Salvation Army—no strife either literal or verbal.

I believe that the failure of the so-called religious organizations of the present day is that they do not come down to the living places where Jesus Christ wants to be represented. I want to assure Mrs. Booth and those officers who have stood by me that I see in the distance a movement which tonight has received its impetus in this great gathering. I do not want anything that exists in the air, but a genuine consecration of our soldiers to the faith of Christ.

There is at least 46 percent of the wage-earning populace of the community who are not identified with any church, a place of religious worship.

One of the Ways of Using It.

Whether Gargled, Sprayed or Taken It Quickly Cures

Sore Throat

Sore Mouth, Croup and Quinsy. 50c and 25c. All Druggists.

THE TONSILINE COMPANY, CANTON, O.

IT IS THERE we want to reach and extend to them the love that inspired the Nazarene on the streets of Jerusalem, nearly 1,900 years ago. Oh! how much hateology and how little heartology there is today. Mrs. Booth and myself have within the last few days been reading the history of this great American soldier, George Washington, whose portrait stands on the platform tonight. We thought of him and his goodness of heart and love for Christ as he turned away for a moment from the faithful scenes of Valley Forge and repaired to the woods, where he knelt in prayer to the God of his country.

Whatever be the mission we undertake it will bear the right stamp and will be directed in the right direction.

Robbed by Convicts In Prison.

WAUPUN, Wis., March 9.—A wholesale robbery of the penitentiary contract firm by convicts in the Wisconsin prison has been discovered. Convicts engaged in the robbery received money, various luxuries and liquor in exchange for goods. Discoveries have been made which led to the arrest of Arthur Miller, a farmer living near the prison, and Fremont Fairbank, a farmhand.

Wife and Savings Gone.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 9.—Mrs. Landerman, wife of Thomas Landerman of Waverly, this county, has mysteriously disappeared, as has also a considerable amount of money, the savings of Landerman. The officers here are on the lookout for the woman, and a man whose identity is known, as they have reason to believe that it is an elopement.

To Ask For an Advance.

PHILIPSBURG, Pa., March 9.—At the miners' mass meeting held here resolutions were adopted declaring in favor of asking for an advance of 10 cents on and after April 1, and steps were taken to bring about a union of all miners in Central Pennsylvania to the end that the demand might be made general.

Not Engaged to Lady Churchill.

LONDON, March 9.—Vanity Fair this week denies the accuracy of the story which it is responsible for circulating that the engagement of Mr. William Waldorf Astor to Lady Randolph Churchill (formerly Miss Jennie Jerome of New York) will shortly be announced.

Kerick's Remains Lie In State.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—The remains of Archbishop Kerick have been received from the Arch Episcopal on East Linden Boulevard to the cathedral on Walnut street, where they will lie in state until Wednesday, when the funeral will be held.

Honors to Ben Franklin.

PARIS, March 9.—The Historical society at Pussy on Sunday placed a tablet on the house which Benjamin Franklin occupied there in 1776.

In Memory of Tennyson.

LONDON, March 9.—The money to erect a beacon on a Freshwater Downs, as a memorial to the late Lord Tennyson, has now been subscribed.

A Merchant Murdered.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Stephen Powell, a well known merchant of Hempstead, L. I., has been struck down and killed within a few feet of his own door by unknown persons, probably for the purpose of robbery. The murdered man, who was 70 years of age, was returning home after closing his shoe store shortly before midnight.

Sues For Losses at Poker.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., March 9.—W. J. Bell, a wealthy Doddridge oil man, has entered suit against L. N. Logan and the Manhattan club for $300 lost on a poker game at the club. As the Manhattan club numbers among its members many leading business and society men, the suit creates a sensation.

Convicted on a Peculiar Charge.

DULUTH, March 9.—William Craig, formerly superintendent of the Duluth Gas and Water company, has been indicted for manslaughter in the second degree for furnishing impure and disease-breeding water to Harry W. Smith, thus causing his death by typhoid fever.

Five Workmen Severely Burned.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Five workmen, employed by the Standard Oil company at Bayonne, N. J., have been severely burned by the overflow of boiling tar from one of the big tanks at the company's yards.

Wrecked Students Picked Up.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 9.—Hamilton Gail and John Catron, the St. John's college students who were swamped in the naphtha launch, have been picked up by a steamer and landed at Cambridge, Md.

REAR ADMIRAL WALKER DEAD.

He Was a Hero of the Mexican and Civil Wars.

NEW YORK, March 9.—Rear Admiral Henry Walke has died at his home in Brooklyn. Henry Walke was born in Virginia 88 years ago. When quite young the deceased was taken to Ohio, receiving his education at the Chittenden academy. In 1827 he became a midshipman in the navy, being assigned to the frigate Alert, under the command of Lieutenant Farragut.

He was present at the surrender of Vera Cruz, during the Mexican war, being executive officer of the brig Vesuvius. During the war of the rebellion he commanded the gunboats Taylor and Lexington and protected General Grant's army while it was making its retreat in the transports. He was also at the battle of Fort Henry in charge of the gunboat Carondelet. He was successful in getting the Carondelet past Island Number Ten on April 4, 1862, while the enemy's shots fell on it like hail. He for this piece of work was honorably mentioned. In 1862 for his bravery he was made a captain; in 1866, commodore, and a rear admiral in 1870. One year later he retired, having the proud distinction of being the first officer to do so voluntarily to give the younger men a chance.

BIG STEAMER LONG OVERDUE.

A Pacific Mail Liner Missing With 186 People on Board.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 9.—The Pacific Mail Steamship company's liner, the City of Rio de Janeiro, which left this port for the Orient heavily laden on the 6th of last month, should have arrived at Yokohama on Feb. 23, yet not a word has been heard from her. At least the agents of the company declare they have received information of no sort regarding the steamer's welfare or whereabouts since she glided out of the bay on the afternoon of Feb. 6.

The Rio left here with 156 people on board all told. Of these four were cabin passengers and there were in the steerage 10 Europeans, 10 Japanese and 22 Chinese. The crew consisted of 30 white people and 79 Chinese.

THE HOUSE SESSION.

Contested Elections and Appropriation Bills to Be Considered.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The house this week will continue work on the appropriations bills and dispose of one, possibly two of the contested election cases. The postoffice appropriation bill will, it is thought, be passed today. The naval appropriation bill is the next supply bill in order.

During the week the Aldrich-Robinson case from the Fourth Alabama district, the report of which is against the Democratic contestant, will be called up, and if time is offered the report of the committee in the Benoit-Boatner case from the Fifth Louisiana declaring the seat occupied by Mr. Boatner vacant will also be acted upon.

A New Italian Cabinet.

ROME, March 9.—The Marquis di Rudini has succeeded in forming a cabinet with himself as premier and minister of the interior, General Ricotti, minister of war; Signor Brin, minister of foreign affairs; Signor Peruzzi, minister of the treasury, and Admiral Raechia, minister of marine.

Armenian Patriarch Asked to Resign.

LONDON, March 9.—A dispatch to The Chronicle from Constantinople says that the sultan is determined to get rid of the Armenian patriarch, Matteos Enkrian, and has invited him to resign, hinting that if he refuses to do so a worse fate will befall the Armenians.

A MCKINLEY MEETING.

That's What the State Republican Convention Will Be.

FORAKER WILL SOUND KEYNOTE.

The Four Delegates-at-Large Will Be the New Senator, Bushnell, Grosvenor and Mark Hanna—The Convention Convened Tomorrow Afternoon.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—The Ohio Republican convention meets at Columbus tomorrow afternoon for temporary organization when Senator-elect J. B. Foraker as temporary chairman will deliver the keynote speech. He says his speech will be the Ohio nomination of McKinley for president and that he will not discuss issues. It is expected that the temporary organization will be made permanent on Wednesday, when delegates and alternates-at-large will be selected for the St. Louis convention and a state ticket nominated.

It is conceded that Senator-elect Foraker, Governor Bushnell, General Grosvenor and Mark Hanna will be the four delegates-at-large and that the occasion will be a McKinley celebration. The programs of the convention have a large McKinley frontispiece and all the arrangements point to an elaborate opening of the McKinley campaign. The nominations are for secretary of state, supreme judge and the usual alternate year state officers.

BUSHNELL TAKES A HAND.

The Charter of the Union Sewer Pipe Company in Danger.

COLUMBUS, March 9.—An effort has been made to have Attorney General Monnett bring proceedings in quo warranto to revoke the charter of the Union Sewer Pipe company of Akron on the ground that it is a trust.

The parties who are urging the suit are the Hill Sewer Pipe company, and several other sewer pipe concerns of Akron. At Governor Bushnell's request there was a joint preliminary hearing of the case before him and the attorney general in the executive chamber. The governor wished to hear the case, so as to determine whether the attorney general should file the case in the supreme court or not.

Attorney General Monnett stated that the governor had virtually relieved him of the responsibility of bringing the suit in quo warranto.

THE ABBOTT BRIBERY CASE.

It Went to the Jury at Columbus Today. Abbott's Defense.

COLUMBUS, March 9.—The case of ex-State Senator J. I. Abbott, charged with bribery, went to the jury today.

Abbott, in his own defense, said he had secured the votes of Senators Hogg and Clarke for the pharmacy bill by trading his vote for bills changing judicial districts according to their desires. He stated that B. F. Price, a druggist, had offered him $600 to use in the legislature, but he did not take that or any other sum for any purpose.

Elmer Black, who was a witness for the state, Abbott said, haunted the senate when the bill was pending, but he paid little attention to him. Senator Earnheart and Representative Dealton testified to the zeal of Senator Abbott in behalf of the pharmacy bill.

A SLUMP IN BAR IRON.

It Will Badly Affect the Wages of the Puddlers.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 9.—President Garland of the Amalgamated association and Secretary Nutt of the Manufacturers' association have completed the canvass of the reports filed by manufacturers for sales of merchant bar iron during January and February, and found there had been a slump in prices compared to the closing months last year, causing a reduction for the next 60 days to puddlers of 50 cents per ton, and a reduction of 4 per cent to finishers.

The wage scale during March and April will be the base of the scale of $4 per ton for puddling.

Manslaughter Over Bridge Disaster.

CLEVELAND, March 9.—Judge Arbuckle has rendered his verdict in the Akron, Bedford and Cleveland railroad bridge disaster. He finds that the accident was due to the failure to use reasonable skill and due caution and care on the part of J. M. Braly of Canton, O., who drew or superintended the drawing of the plans of the bridge. A warrant was at once issued for the arrest of Braly, charging manslaughter.

Shot in the Girl's Presence.

GALLIPOLIS, O., March 9.—Calvin Pierce, a miner, at Carleton, has been shot and mortally wounded by Benjamin Hysell, another miner. They were rivals and Pierce struck Hysell with a rock while the latter was walking with the girl in the case. Hysell promptly fired five shots at his assailant, two of which took effect. Hysell has not been arrested and has made no attempt to escape.

In the Jail He Inspected.

LOUISVILLE, O., March 9.—Marshal Conrad of this place has taken into custody J. J. Johnson of Chicago, claiming to have been sent out by W. C. T. U. to inspect jails and infirmaries. He is wanted charged with stealing three livery rigs and a gold watch. He was placed in the jail he inspected.

Ohio Counties Endorse McKinley.

COLUMBUS, March 9.—The following Republican county convention endorsed McKinley Saturday: Cuyahoga, Huron, Lorain, Highland, Warren, Licking, Fairfield, Clermont, Richland, Noble, Preble, Tuscarawas, Wood, Knox; also the Columbus city convention.

Jackson-Walling Extradition Stands.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—Judge Buchwalter has sustained the extradition in the cases of Jackson and Walling and they must go to Kentucky for trial. A stay of proceedings for one week was granted in order that the circuit court may pass upon an appeal by the defense.

DOUBLE MURDER IN CHICAGO.

Mysterious Woman Telephones Parties Before the Bodies Are Found.

CHICAGO, March 9.—Carefully concealed in a barrel and covered with a mass of old rags and cotton the dead bodies of a gray haired man and a newborn babe have been found in an alley near Hyde Park. In consequence the police are working on what they consider a double murder. Only one clew is in their possession, and on the discovery of a woman, as yet unknown to the police, depends the possible solution of the mystery.

The office in Ralston's Hyde Park morgue was rung up on the telephone and a woman, who declined to give either her name or address, asked if the body of a man had been found in Hyde Park. The office attendant replied in the negative and then questioned the woman, but his best efforts failed to get any information of a clerical character, although she told the clerk she was looking for a man who was missing. She was finally prevailed upon to give a description, which she did in minute detail. She astonished the morgue attendant by saying in conclusion that he would certainly learn more about the case later on.

Four hours later the barrel with its ghastly contents was discovered in the rear of the house at 4289 Indiana avenue. The body of the man tallied in almost every respect with the description furnished by the mysterious woman over the telephone wire and the police unhesitatingly connected her with the case. In the barrel also was the body of a boy not over ten days old.

HEADQUARTERS FOR MCKINLEY.

The Big Music Hall at St. Louis Secured For the Ohioans.

St. LOUIS, March 9.—Thomas F. Clohesy of Cincinnati, W. R. Kissick of Cleveland and W. B. Gaitre of Columbus, a committee representing the Ohio Republican league as representatives of Governor McKinley, have secured the exposition building for the entire week of the Republican national convention. The large music hall, with a seating capacity of 3,000, and large rooms for committee purposes, besides the halls and corridors, are included.

The building will be used exclusively as the headquarters of the McKinley forces, and meetings will be held every day. Some of the greatest political orators in the country will deliver speeches there for McKinley during convention week. The exposition building is but a few blocks from the convention auditorium. Sleeping accommodations have been provided at the Planters and Southern hotels.

It is stated that definite arrangements have also been made by the Ohio Republican league to sweep down upon St. Louis with 5,000 McKinleyites when the convention opens.

Kansas Will Instruct For McKinley.

WICHITA, Kas., March 9.—The Republican state convention to elect six delegates-at-large to the St. Louis convention will convene in this city tomorrow. It is a foregone conclusion that the McKinley men will have everything their own way, in view of the action of a majority of the county conventions instructing for the Ohioan.

New York May Swing to Quay.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—Ex-Senator Tom Platt of New York has held a long conference with Senator Quay on the presidential situation. It is said the New Yorker is in favor of Quay after Morton has been disposed of, which will be about on the second ballot, when New York will swing in line for Quay.

Blackburn Nearly Elected.

FRANKFORT, Ky., March 9.—Senator Blackburn narrowly missed re-election by the Kentucky legislature. The fact that there was no quorum at the second of the two ballots taken, was one precaution that helped to save the Republicans. He came within two votes of an election.

Wisconsin Counties For McKinley.

MILWAUKEE, March 9.—Nineteen counties have now held Republican conventions, all being for McKinley, although three did not instruct.

Some New Yorkers For McKinley.

JAMESTOWN, N. Y., March 9.—McKinley men won in every town in the First assembly district of Chautauqua county at the Republican caucuses.

London Newspapers Pleased.

LONDON, March 9.—The London newspapers agree almost without exception in declaring that the presentation of the British side of the case in the Venezuelan boundary controversy is almost unanswerable.

REGARDLESS OF CONSEQUENCES.

Leading Spanish Statesmen Agree They Are Entering Upon a Decisive Stage in Their Relations With America—Unable to Stop Demonstrations.

MADRID, March 9.—Several foreign military officers, including some Englishmen, have offered their services to the Spanish minister of war, Senor Marcelo de Azcarra, in the event of war between Spain and America. The official belief, however, is expressed that no conflict will occur. Patriotic demonstrations have occurred throughout the country since the action of the United States congress on the Cuban question and many wealthy Spaniards are offering money to the government. Several towns also have sent messages offering goods and the lives of their citizens in defense of their country. The ship owners of Seville have offered to place 50 steamers at the disposal of the government. In the Basque province a subscription has been opened to present to the government. A London special says: "The Madrid correspondent of the Standard, noting the fact that the utmost energy of the authorities fails to prevent demonstrations of hostility toward the United States, says the press everywhere deprecates premature ebullitions, but plainly expresses the opinion that these impulses may soon be needed for energetic action, as Spain will sooner confront any contingencies, however dangerous than stoop to insult. 'Senores Sagasta, Marti, Castelar, Canovas and other leading statesmen whom I have consulted,' the correspondent proceeds to say, 'all agree that they are entering upon a decisive stage in their relations with America and that recognition of the rebels will have most serious consequences.'"

CUBAN REBELS WHIPPED.

A Report From Spanish Sources Claiming a Decisive Victory.

HAVANA, March 9.—An important engagement is officially reported to have taken place in the central portion of Matanzas province. Colonel Vicuna reports that he met a force of insurgents numbering 7,000 and led by Maximo Gomez, Antonio Maceo, Lacerda and others at the plantation of Diana and Alabres in the district of Carral. They were dislodged from their positions by the troops and made a precipitate flight toward San Miguel de los Baños.

The insurgent loss is reported to be 71 killed and 42 wounded left on the field as well as numerous others carried off. The insurgents also lost 200 horses. The loss of the troops was three killed and 19 wounded.

EULALIE PRAYS FOR PEACE.

A Message From the Lady Who Was Our National Guest.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The World today publishes the following copyright dispatch from the Infanta Eulalie of Spain, who was the guest of the United States at the world's fair at Chicago:

Sweet remembrance of the affectionate reception given to me by the people of the United States when I went to their country, representing my own, at the festivities in honor of Columbus lives and ever will live in my heart.

During those festivities strong proofs of mutual esteem were given by both countries.

I became convinced, and still am persuaded, that never, never should that traditional friendship be broken, much less should peace be disturbed.

Being apart from affairs of state, I can only pray God fervently that cordial relations between the two countries may never cease.

QUELLING MOB VIOLENCE.

Police Rout a Mob Making Demonstrations Against the United States.

VALENCIA, March 9.—This city was again in a turbulent state over the condition of the relations between Spain and the United States. A mob gathered and was proceeding toward the American consulate with the intention of causing a disturbance there, but a force of police and gendarmes opposed their passage through the streets. A desperate struggle ensued and several persons were wounded, including a gendarme.

The mob succeeded in entering the plaza de Toros by destroying the gates leading to the bull ring. They then held a meeting in the arena. A state of siege was proclaimed.

Will Adopt the Cuban Report.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Cuban question will be revived in the senate today on the proposition to accept the report of the conference committee agreeing to the house resolutions. There is a possibility of considerable debate upon the subject, but on the other hand the report may be accepted after but brief exchange of views. It is believed that under no circumstances the question will be prolonged beyond today, and there is little doubt that the house resolutions will be agreed to.

Their Resignations Refused.

MADRID, March 9.—The United States minister, Mr. Taylor, has refused the resignations of Spaniards acting as United States consuls when they were written in Spanish on the ground that that language is not the official language of the United States.

Five Thought to Be Fatally Hurt.

St. LOUIS, March 9.—A disastrous collision has occurred on the newly completed Kirkwood Electric railroad. While a car heavily laden was waiting for another to pass, the switch became turned in some manner, throwing both together. Both cars were badly smashed and 36 passengers received injuries. Five are thought to have been fatally hurt.

AN EIGHT-HOUR WORK DAY.

An Important Proclamation Issued by President Gompers.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The resolutions adopted at the convention of the American Federation of Labor recently held here calling upon the affiliated unions to start a movement all over the country for an eight-hour work day in all branches of industry will soon be carried into effect.

Samuel Gompers, president of the organization, has issued a proclamation to the workmen of the United States, calling them to action. The proclamation says:

"It seems to us that the time has passed when it is necessary to argue in favor of the introduction of the eight-hour workday. We will ascertain soon the spirit prevailing in the organizations to make this effort. But be the result at this moment what it may, there can be no question but that its successful enforcement will soon be realized."

The shorter workday will give the toilers millions of hours of golden opportunities for physical, mental and moral improvement; this, with better hours, better lives, resulting from higher wages, giving an impetus to production and distribution of industry and commerce, progress and human consideration for each, their rights, duties and happiness they can receive in no other way."

TRAIN ROBBERY IN ILLINOIS.

Bandits Make a Partially Successful Holdup on the Rock Island.

JOLIET, Ill., March 9.—A daring and partially successful attempt to hold up a westbound Rock Island express train has been made about 1 o'clock in the afternoon at the coal chute two miles below this city. The train stopped there to get coal, and as soon as it came to a standstill three men boarded a car and ordered the passengers to hold up their hands. They succeeded in going through one car and entered the second.

Here they met a lively reception and several shots were exchanged between the passengers and the burglars and they jumped from the train and escaped. The police of this city believe that they have a clue. This is the same spot where Express Messenger Nicholas was murdered several years ago.

Honored and Cheered Satelli.

KANSAS CITY, March 9.—Cardinal Sattoli was honored and cheered by the thousands here, local Catholics turning out en masse to greet and hear their distinguished visitor. ## A M'KINLEY MEETING.

That's What the State Republican Convention Will Be.

FORAKER WILL SOUND KEYNOTE.

The Four Delegates-at-Large Will Be the New Senator, Bushnell, Grosvenor and Mark Hanna—The Convention Convened Tomorrow Afternoon.

CINCINNATI, March 9.—The Ohio Republican convention meets at Columbus tomorrow afternoon for temporary organization when Senator-elect J. B. Foraker as temporary chairman will deliver the keynote speech. He says his speech will be the Ohio nomination of McKinley for president and that he will not discuss issues. It is expected that the temporary organization will be made permanent on Wednesday, when delegates and alternates-at-large will be selected for the St. Louis convention and a state ticket nominated.

It is conceded that Senator-elect Foraker, Governor Bushnell, General Grosvenor and Mark Hanna will be the four delegates-at-large and that the occasion will be a McKinley celebration. The programs of the convention have a large McKinley frontispiece and all the arrangements point to an elaborate opening of the McKinley campaign. The nominations are for secretary of state, supreme judge and the usual alternate year state offices.

BUSHNELL TAKES A HAND.

The Charter of the Union Sewer Pipe Company In Danger.

COLUMBUS, March 9.—An effort has been made to have Attorney General Monnett bring proceedings in quo warranto to revoke the charter of the Union Sewer Pipe company of Akron on the ground that it is a trust.

The parties who are urging the suit are the Hill Sewer Pipe company, and several other sewer pipe concerns of Akron. At Governor Bushnell's request there was a joint preliminary hearing of the case before him and the attorney general in the executive chamber. The governor wished to hear the case, so as to determine whether the attorney general should file the case in the supreme court or not.

Attorney General Monnett stated that the governor had virtually relieved him of the responsibility of bringing the suit in quo warranto.

THE ABBOTT BRIBERY CASE.

It Went to the Jury at Columbus Today. Abbott's Defense.

COLUMBUS, March 9.—The case of ex-Senate Senator J. I. Abbott, charged with bribery, went to the jury to-day.

Abbott, in his own defense, said he had secured the votes of Senators Hogg and Clarke for the pharmacy bill by trading his vote for bills changing judicial districts according to their desires. He stated that B. F. Price, a druggist, had offered him $600 to use in the legislature, but he did not take that or any other sum for any purpose.

Emer Black, who was a witness for the state, Abbott said, haunted the senate when the bill was pending, but he had paid little attention to him. Senator Earnheart and Representative Deaton testified to the zeal of Senator Abbott in behalf of the pharmacy bill.

A SLUMP IN BAR IRON.

It Will Badly Affect the Wages of the Puddlers.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., March 9.—President Garland of the Amalgamated association and Secretary Nutt of the Manufacturers' association have completed the canvass of the reports filed by manufacturers for sales of merchant bar iron during January and February, and found there had been a slump in prices compared to the closing months last year, causing a reduction for the next 60 days to puddlers of 50 cents per ton, and a reduction of 4 per cent to finishers.

The wage scale during March and April will be the base of the scale of $4 per ton for puddling.

Manslaughter Over Bridge Disaster.

CLEVELAND, March 9.—Judge Arbuckle has rendered his verdict in the Akron, Bedford and Cleveland railroad bridge disaster. He finds that the accident was due to the failure to use reasonable skill and due caution and care on the part of J. M. Braly of Canton, O., who drew or supervised the drawing of the plans of the bridge. A warrant was at once issued for the arrest of Braly, charging manslaughter.

Shot In the Girl's Presence.

GALLIPOLIS, O., March 9.—Calvin Pierce, a miner, at Carlton, has been shot and mortally wounded by Benjamin Hysell, another miner. They were a rock while the latter was walking with the girl in the case. Hysell promptly fired five shots at his assailant, two of which took effect. Hysell has not been arrested and has made no attempt to escape.

In the Jail He Inspected.

LOUISVILLE, O., March 9.—Marshal Courd of this place has taken into custody J. J. Johnson of Chicago, claiming to have been sent out by W. C. T. U. to inspect jails and infirmaries. He was charged with stealing three livery rigs and a gold watch. He was placed in the jail he inspected.

Ohio Counties Endorse McKinley.

COLUMBUS, March 9.—The following Republican county convention endorsed McKinley Saturday: Cuyahoga, Huron, Lorain, Highland, Warren, Licking, Fairfield, Clermont, Richland, Noble, Tuscarawas, Wood, Knox; also the Columbus city convention.

A Report From Spanish Sources Claiming a Decisive Victory.

HAVANA, March 9.—An important engagement is officially reported to have taken place in the central portion of Matanzas province.

Colonel Vicuna reports that he met a force of insurgents numbering 7,000 and led by Maximo Gomez, Antonio Maceo, Laceret and others at the plantation of Diana and Alabrus in the district of Carral. They were dislodged from their positions by the troops and made a precipitate flight toward San Miguel de los Baños.

The insurgent loss is reported to be 71 killed and 42 wounded left on the field as well as numerous others carried off. The insurgents also lost 200 horses. The loss of the troops was three killed and 19 wounded.

EULALIE PRAYS FOR PEACE.

A Message From the Lady Who Was Our National Guest.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The World to-day publishes the following copyright dispatch from the Infanta Eulalie of Spain, who was the guest of the United States at the world's fair at Chicago:

Sweet remembrance of the affectionate reception given to me by the people of the United States when I went to their country, representing my own, at the festivities in honor of Columbus lives and ever will live in my heart.

During those festivities strong proofs of mutual esteem were given by both countries. I became convinced and still am persuaded that never, never should that traditional friendship be broken, much less should peace be disturbed.

Being apart from affairs of state, I can only pray God fervently that cordial relations between the two countries may never cease.

QUELLING MOB VIOLENCE.

Police Rout a Mob Making Demonstrations Against the United States.

VALENCIA, March 9.—This city was again in a turbulent state over the condition of the relations between Spain and the United States. A mob gathered and was proceeding toward the American consulate with the intention of causing a disturbance there, but a force of police and gendarmes opposed their passage through the streets. A desperate struggle ensued and several persons were wounded, including a gendarme.

The mob succeeded in entering the plaza de Toros by destroying the gates leading to the bull ring. They then held a meeting in the arena. A state of siege was proclaimed.

Will Adopt the Cuban Report.

WASHINGTON, March 9.—The Cuban question will be reviewed in the senate today on the proposition to accept the report of the conference committee agreeing to the house resolutions. There is a possibility of considerable debate upon the subject, but on the other hand the report may be accepted after but brief exchange of views. It is believed that under no circumstances the question will be prolonged beyond today, and there is little doubt that the house resolutions will be agreed to.

Their Resignations Refused.

MADRID, March 9.—The United States minister, Mr. Taylor, has refused the resignations of Spaniards acting as United States consuls when they were written in Spanish on the ground that that language is not the official language of the United States.

Five Thought to Be Fatally Hurt.

ST. LOUIS, March 9.—A disastrous collision has occurred on the newly completed Kirkwood Electric railroad. While a car heavily laden was waiting for another to pass, the switch became turned in some manner, throwing both together. Both cars were badly smashed and 36 passengers received injuries. Five are thought to have been fatally hurt.

AN EIGHT-HOUR WORK DAY.

An Important Proclamation Issued by President Gompers.

NEW YORK, March 9.—The resolutions adopted at the convention of the American Federation of Labor recently held here calling upon the affiliated unions to start a movement all over the country for an eight-hour work day in all branches of industry will soon be carried into effect.

Samuel Gompers, president of the organization, has issued a proclamation to the workmen of the United States, calling them to action. The proclamation says:

"It seems to us that the time has passed when it is necessary to argue in favor of the introduction of the eight-hour workday. We will ascertain soon the spirit prevailing in the organizations to make this effort. But be the result at this moment what it may, there can be no question but that its successful enforcement will soon be realized."

"The shorter workday will give the toilers millions of hours of golden opportunities for physical, mental and moral improvement; this, with better hours, better lives, resulting from higher wages, giving an impetus to production and distribution of industry and commerce, progress and human consideration for each, their rights, duties and happiness they can receive in no other way."

TRAIN ROBBERY IN ILLINOIS.

Bandits Make a Partially Successful Holdup on the Rock Island.

JOLIET, Ill., March 9.—A daring and partially successful attempt to hold up a westbound Rock Island express train has been made about 1 o'clock in the afternoon at the coal chute two miles below this city. The train stopped there to get coal, and as soon as it came to a standstill three men boarded a car and ordered the passengers to hold up their hands. They succeeded in going through one car and entered the second.

Here they met a lively reception and several shots were exchanged between the passengers and the burglars and they jumped from the train and escaped. The police of this city believe that they have a clue. This is the same spot where Express Messenger Nicholas was murdered several years ago.

Honored and Cheered Satolli.

KANSAS CITY, March 9.—Cardinal Satolli was honored and cheered by the thousands here, local Catholics turning out en masse to greet and hear their distinguished visitor. The immense cathedral was crowded to the doors to witness the cardinal celebrate pontifical mass and bestow the pontifical blessing. A dinner, attended by the local clergy, prominent members of the laity and business men in honor of the cardinal, was given at the Coates House.

Shooting Detectives Found Guilty.

CHICAGO, March 9.—The jury in the Frank White murder case has found William J. Dix guilty of murder and fixed his punishment at life imprisonment. Jacob Fischer, Charles A. ## PROPOSED AMENDMENT

To Be Added to the Game Laws of the State.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN GET COPIES

The General Outline of the Amendments is that it is Proposed to Add to the State Game Laws—Does not Entirely Meet With Approval Here.

George Grosshans, of this city, has received a number of copies of amendments, that have been drawn up from the numerous petitions received by the state legislature from the sportsmen of the state, to place more restrictions on the game laws. It is proposed to add the amendments to the laws of 1894. The first section of the amendment makes it unlawful to kill quail and pheasants within the state and convey and expose for sale the same in any other state.

The second amendment legalizes against the sale or purchase of wild turkey, quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, except between the 10th of November and 15th of December, inclusive. It also provides similarly against squirrel, dove, rail, killdeer, snipe, plover, coot or mud hen, wild duck or any woodcock, except between the first day of September to the 15th of December, inclusive. The next amendment also provides against the killing of the above enumerated game, except between the given dates. This section also stipulates that wild ducks can only be hunted between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning, and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of any week it is unlawful to kill or hunt this class of game. The last amendment makes it permissible to keep for the purpose of domestication or propagation, deer, wild turkey, grouse and pheasants. The above amendments do not entirely meet with the approval of the local sportsman and they will make a further effort to have some of the features of the measure altered. It also makes provision for a heavy penalty for a failure to observe the above.

TROUBLE AT THE DRESDEN.

Employees Object to Paying for the Use of Electric Lights.

When the clay hands of the Dresden pottery received their wages Saturday afternoon, they were surprised to find that a deduction had been made from the regular amount that they were to draw. The firm then notified the employees that they had decided to charge them for the use of the electric lights in the shop. The employees rebelled against this, and a committee was appointed to investigate and ascertain if any charge was imposed upon employees for the use of lights in any other pottery before agreeing to comply with this new edict. They found that this rule was not in vogue elsewhere in the city and the committee will wait upon the firm and make known their objections. The clay hands were charged up for the use of the lights from the beginning of the year until the present time, and the first intimation that they had of this was when they received their wages last Saturday.

VEHICLE ORDINANCE.

The Committee Will Report Tomorrow Night.

The passage of the proposed vehicle ordinance is questioned by many. The street committee, to whom the matter was referred, will report to council tomorrow night the result of their investigations and the alterations that they deem it wise to make in the original outlines of the ordinance. Councilman Owen is opposed to the measure and will vote against it becoming a law. He said that he did not favor any ordinance that would tax one person and not another.

A DISGUSTING SPECTACLE.

A Woman Arrested in a Debauched Condition Saturday Night.

At a late hour Saturday night the attention of Special Officer Welch was called to the actions of a woman in an alley near the lower end of Washington street. The woman was in a beastly state of intoxication, and reeling about in an unsteady manner. She was arrested and taken to city hall. She said that her name was Alice Shears, and her home Wellsville. Yesterday morning the mayor fined her $5.75, which she paid and was given her freedom.

Chamberlain's Cough remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine I handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, cold and croup. A. W. BALDRIDGE, Millersville, Ill. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Disturbed the Army.

Ed Gallagher was arrested today for disturbing the Salvation Army meeting yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing tomorrow.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Robert Logan went to East Palestine to visit friends today.

—Will Lear, of Wheeling, spent Sunday with relatives here.

—Thomas Abrams and wife, of Hancock county, are visiting friends in the city.

—Capt. J. L. Morris, of Seventh street, went to Tabor, Carroll county, on business this morning.

—Miss Nellie Cannon, of Sixth street, returned home Saturday after visiting friends in Salineville.

—Councilman John J. Purinton will go to Columbus tomorrow to attend the state convention of the Republican party.

—Harry C. Sedam, formerly of this city, but now travelling for a New York firm, passed through this city on the morning train, westward bound.

CONSUMPTION AND OLD AGE

The Cause of Two Deaths Sunday Night.

John Woolmaker, aged 73 years, died at his residence on the corner of Mulberry street and Church alley last night. The cause of his death is attributed to old age. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 12 o'clock. Burial services will be conducted by Rev. Lee, D. D. Interment at Spring Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Patrick Toulon, of the West End, died at her late home last night, from an attack of consumption. Deceased leaves a husband and a number of children. The funeral occurs tomorrow afternoon. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

IN CONSULTATION

With Some of the Members of the Light Committee.

W. J. Hanley, a representative of the General Electric company, of Cincinnati, is in the city today for the purpose of consulting with the members of the light committee of council with a view to entering into negotiations with the city to build an electric light plant here. Mr. Hanley has had wide experience in the construction of municipal plants and will submit a proposition to the committee to be taken under advisement.

AN EXHIBITION.

A New Electric Motor Undergoing Inspection.

The Ceramic City light company have placed on exhibition at their plant today a three phase motor of 10 light power capacity. A number of manufacturers are examining it, and considering the advisability of introducing this improved machine in their works as motive power for machinery. It differs from the old style of motors in that it operates from an alternating generator.

BOUND TO A BOARD.

Shameful Treatment of a Lad at the Dresden.

A lad employed at the Dresden pottery was shamefully abused by an older employee on the pottery yesterday. The lad was bound tightly to a board and when released his limbs were covered with black and blue marks. The boy's mother called at the pottery, and in strong terms denounced the perpetrator of the outrage.

A RAN AWAY.

A Youth Leaves His Home and Now Writes For Money to Return.

John Owen, Jr., a lad residing with his parents on Sixth street, ran away from home last Saturday and wound up at Akron yesterday. A letter was received from the repentant son asking for funds to pay his passage home.

"Perhaps you would not think so, out a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Doctor Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Completed the Ticket.

The following are the Prohibition candidates for school board as filed with the election board: First ward—Dr. W. M. Calhoun, 1 year; Mrs. Warren Crawford, 2 years. Second ward—Mrs. R. W. Watson, 1 year; Sol J. Faulk, 2 years. Third ward—Mrs. R. B. Whitehead, 1 year; Murray Nickle, 2 years. Fourth ward—J. C. McClain, 1 year; Alex McGraw, 2 years.

A Break Down.

On Saturday night George Zink had a break down on Lincoln avenue. He left the wagon standing while he went for assistance; returning, it was found that a sneak thief had stolen the hold back straps from the wagon.

FRANCISCO MIRANDA.

Weld In Reverence In Venezuela as a Pioneer of Liberty.

Francisco Miranda was a type of the reckless fighter and adventurer always dear to the hero worshiper, and he was so closely identified with the inception of Venezuela's revolution against Spain that he will always be held as a national hero.

He was born in Caracas in 1756 and entered the Spanish military service when he was 17. He served in the United States in 1780 and later in Cuba. He was forced to leave Cuba for some illegal transaction, and for several years led an adventurous life in Russia, Turkey, England and Germany. He went into the French service at the outbreak of the revolution and by brilliant service reached the rank of major general. His name is on the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, as one of the great captains of the revolution. His reckless and adventurous spirit apparently kept him in constant conflict with sober law, for in 1797 he was condemned by the directory, but escaped to England. Receiving no aid in England, he came to the United States.

Here he put into motion his scheme of freeing his native country from the Spanish rule. He found means to equip two small vessels, and with 200 volunteers he sailed for Venezuela. He landed early in 1806 and was attacked by a superior Spanish force, losing many of his men. The Spanish captain burned Miranda in effigy and offered $50,000 for his capture. He recouped his forces, and a few months later took a Spanish town, but did not succeed in arousing the people to revolution.

It was some time later that he met Bolivar and with him went to Europe to secure aid for their enterprise.

When they returned in December, 1810, Miranda organized the first republican government, which was made possible by the uprising of the people in April, 1810. He was vice president of congress and signed the constitution and the act of independence. He was commander of the army and won several victories over the Spanish, but his disregard for all proprieties finally got him into trouble. His fellow officers among the revolutionists turned against him, he was accused of being a traitor to the cause, and in 1812 he was taken prisoner by his own party.

He was allowed to fall into the hands of the Spanish authorities, who sent him to Cadiz in 1813 as a political prisoner. Three years later, on July 14, 1816, he died.—New York Mail and Express.

Americans In Nova Scotia.

A lady of Nova Scotia, writing to the Boston Transcript, says that the Americans who visit Nova Scotia are almost without exception pleasant and well-mannered people. "We note some slight difference between their speech and ours. Their voices are higher and sharper, and they are more up to date as to slang. I am afraid that in our heart of hearts we feel ourselves a little superior in repose of manner, for the rollicking enjoyment of the ordinary American when on a holiday in Nova Scotia is, perhaps, too evident. But when the patience with which they endure many inconveniences, the zest with which they enter into any pleasures that come in their way, and the good will with which they are ever ready to help any charitable scheme which may be afoot in a place where they are staying are put in the scale against the loudness which sometimes offends us, the trifling peculiarity kicks the beam."

Amusements Tonight.

This being the initial performance and ladies' free night at the opera house, the Wilson Theater company will undoubtedly have a packed house. The company is an extraordinarily large one, and carry a large amount of scenery and mechanical effects. Miss Mamie Phelps, the soubrette, was for two seasons with Hoyts "Trip to China Town," and is the brightest little thing imaginable. Edwin R. Whaley, the comedian, is well known, having appeared in all the larger cities with the great American Extravaganza company in "Sinbad." Don't miss seeing the "White Slave." It is a wonderful play of nature.

Married in Cleveland.

Miss Texie Fisher, who formerly resided here at the residence of Doctor Norris, was united in marriage today in Cleveland to Al Parkinson, a clothing merchant of Beaver Falls. They will make their future home at the latter city.

Notice to Candidates.

The names of all candidates for nomination on the Republican ticket for the municipal and township primary election, to be held Saturday, March 21, must be handed to the secretary of the Republican central committee not later than 7 p. m. of Wednesday, March 11, 1896. By order of committee.

D. F. NELLS, Chairman,
JAMES N. HANLEY, Secretary.

Recovering.

Mr. Harry McMasters, of East End, who has been suffering with the fever for the past month, is recovering.

Improving.

Mrs. Archie Searight, of the East End, is slowly improving, after an illness extending over five months.

Stole the Dog.

Emmet McGlashan, of McKinnon's addition, had a beagle hound stolen from him on Saturday.

COBHAM OF DICKENS.

A VILLAGE IMMORTALIZED IN THE "PICKWICK PAPERS."

Articles of Interest In the Room Which Is the Pride of Mine Host of the "Leather Bottle"—An Antique Church and the Brasses It Contains.

Less than an hour and a half from London is the quiet little station at Stole street, named, I suppose, in honor of a Roman road and trodden by travelers as they approach the manifold glories of Cobham.

Cobham, the Kentish Cobham, is one of those places in which Kent is so rich, favored alike by nature and art and historical association. For what is called park scenery it has few superiors in England. The church has memorials of its fourteenth century lords as fresh as when they felt the last touch of the workman's tools, while the inn opposite is redolent with the memories of Charles Dickens, and the ruddy old Elizabethan hall is one of the stateliest homes in England—a real home, constantly lived in.

To see Cobham in its glory one must of course visit it in summer. It is hardly fair to go there, as I did, on a weeping autumn day, though it was full of a charm of its own. In the first place, the scene precluded my approaching Cobham in the orthodox way—from the back of the ancient buildings which form the new college. The boy who acts as porter at the station did not recommend the short cut for a very wet day. It had recently been plowed. So, passing first an old Kentish black and white house to the left and then a fine red brick Georgian mansion (described by him as a farm) to the right, I strode up the main street of Cobham village to where a putative leather bottle swings in front of the inn which Dickens immortalized in "Pickwick." The leather bottle, which, proudly labeled "Eccos Signum," swings over a sign of Dickens' Mr. Pickwick standing on a chair with his hands under his coat tails, is, as matter of fact, made of cast iron and weighs no less than 40 pounds, the real bottle being kept on the top of the clock in the bar parlor, guarded by an uncertain looking monkey and a dog. It is shaped like a barrel, with a combined stopper and handle on one side, and has a large hole cut out just below the handle, the reason of this being that when it was dug out of a field hard by it weighed so heavy that the finder hacked a hole to see what was in it. He was rewarded by finding money, which was probably exactly what he wanted to find.

The inn claims to be as old as the chance of the church opposite, which would make it fourteenth century. Even the aspect of the much repaired exterior does not make this impossible, and the rough, worm eaten, dark oak beams in the low ceiling of the Dickens room certainly look old enough.

The Dickens room is the pride of mine host and brings Cobham visits from a host of theatrical people, who certainly would never visit it for the sake of its lords, ancient or modern, and their hall and church and college. In the visitors' book I read such names as W. S. Penley and J. L. Toole, the latter accompanied by Mr. Clement Scott, and over the mantelpiece hung a pretty theatrical portrait of Miss Mary Anderson, with her hands tied together in some character which I did not recognize—her memento of a visit here.

The walls are hung with prints of various characters and scenes in Dickens' books, Dickens' programmes, sketches, and what not, among them being The Graphic's picture of the "Empty Chair," which made Luke Fildes' name, and Dickens' last letter (in autograph), dated June 8, 1870, in reply to a Non-conformist minister named Matcham, a letter about "Edwin Drood," and with a pathetic and particular interest, because Dickens in this last letter of his life avows that he had always cherished Christianity—even written a book to bring it home to his children, though he had not proclaimed his belief from the house top. Jingle, Sidney Carton, the devoted, and Pecksniff are among the more prominent characters on the walls. All around the room there are rows of old fashioned chairs, the place of honor being occupied by the Dickens chair—a flat topped article of the variety known to old furniture dealers as "The Windsor."

Whatever the claims of the "Leather Bottle" to fourteenth century honors, there is no doubt of the antiquity of the church, though the age of the exterior, except the tower's, is obliterated with a facing of flints. Two gigantic flints, one of them at least 4 feet by 2, lie on the grass below. The interior of the church, once ruined with plaster and whitewash, is now carefully restored and highly interesting. First in importance, of course, come its monumental brasses, some 80 of them, not erected, but laid down on the chancel floor to the honor of the lords and ladies of Cobham and the masters of their college. These brasses have no superiors in England, and go as far back as the beginning of the fourteenth century. Not a line is obliterated in these given images of the knights and dames—the one in full armor, the other in the height of fashion. Tradition says that in Cromwell's time they were saved from the heavy hand of the spoiler by being first whitewashed to escape notice, and then covered with deep litter for the stabling of my lord protector's horses. I think that they must have been further saved by wooden floors being laid over the flags on which they rest for a few odd centuries.—London Queen.

Learned in One Lesson.

A truly remarkable story of feline intelligence was lately told by a correspondent of the London Spectator. Indeed, it might fairly be called incredible, only that the correspondent, as will be seen, vouches for its truth.

I am induced to send you an account of a remarkable instance of feline sagacity which occurred in my house last week.

About a fortnight ago my black Persian cat brought to the house a young sparrow, and taking it to the front door, began stripping it of its feathers. The cook, not approving of the litter made by the said feathers, doubled the mat over and told the cat he must not make such a litter, but strew the feathers on the wrong side of the mat and not on the top.

A fortnight afterward the cat brought in another bird and, marvelous to say, turned the mat—which was a heavy cover mat—over with his claws, and littered the wrong side of it with the feathers, precisely as the cook had told him to do.

This is absolutely true, and without exaggeration.

At the present time the United States has 144 garrisoned forts, arsenals or military posts occupied by its troops.

BEAUTIFUL JAPANESE CATHEDRAL.

And Its Unique Way of Protection From Fire by Fountains.

When foreign architects visit Japan and see the cathedral of Buddhism for the first time, they are generally astonished at the magnificent structure. It is erected in pure oriental style and is richly ornamented with carvings. H. Ito, a famous builder of Nagoya City, designed it. The structure was commenced in 1878 and was completed in 1895. The cost has been estimated at $17,000,000. It would have greatly exceeded this amount had not numbers of Buddhists worked without any recompense.

As the structure neared completion the committee having the work in charge was much perplexed as to fire insurance. They found that no company would assume the risk on such a valuable wooden structure, the danger of destruction by fire being very great, and thus the premiums would amount to an enormous sum of money. At last the committee decided on a design devised by Dr. Tanabe. Numbers of powerful fountains were constructed, both exterior and interior, which can be made to play on all parts of the structure at the same time.

Usually only one great ornamental fountain is playing, rising to the great height of 167 feet. This is probably the largest artificial fountain in existence, emitting 82,080 gallons per hour. In case of fire all the water pressure is directed through the numbers of exterior and interior fountains. Thus every part of the structure, both inside and out, could soon be drenched and any conflagration soon extinguished.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT

To Be Added to the Game Laws of the State.

LOCAL SPORTSMEN GET COPIES

The General Outline of the Amendments is that it is Proposed to Add to the State Game Laws—Does not Entirely Meet With Approval Here.

George Grosshans, of this city, has received a number of copies of amendments, that have been drawn up from the numerous petitions received by the state legislature from the sportsmen of the state, to place more restrictions on the game laws. It is proposed to add the amendments to the laws of 1894. The first section of the amendment makes it unlawful to kill quail and pheasants within the state and convey and expose for sale the same in any other state.

The second amendment legalizes against the sale or purchase of wild turkey, quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, except between the 10th of November and 15th of December, inclusive. It also provides similarly against squirrel, dove, rail, killdeer, snipe, plover, coot or mud hen, wild duck or any woodcock, except between the first day of September to the 15th of December, inclusive. The next amendment also provides against the killing of the above enumerated game, except between the given dates. This section also stipulates that wild ducks can only be hunted between the hours of 6 o'clock in the morning, and 5 o'clock in the afternoon. On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of any week it is unlawful to kill or hunt this class of game. The last amendment makes it permissible to keep for the purpose of domestication or propagation, deer, wild turkey, grouse and pheasants. The above amendments do not entirely meet with the approval of the local sportsmen and they will make a further effort to have some of the features of the measure altered. It also makes provision for a heavy penalty for a failure to observe the above.

TROUBLE AT THE DRESDEN.

Employees Object to Paying for the Use of Electric Lights.

When the clay hands of the Dresden pottery received their wages Saturday afternoon, they were surprised to find that a deduction had been made from the regular amount that they were to draw. The firm then notified the employees that they had decided to charge them for the use of the electric lights in the shop. The employees rebelled against this, and a committee was appointed to investigate and ascertain if any charge was imposed upon employees for the use of lights in any other pottery before agreeing to comply with this new edict. They found that this rule was not in vogue elsewhere in the city and the committee will wait upon the firm and make known their objections. The clay hands were charged up for the use of the lights from the beginning of the year until the present time, and the first intimation that they had of this was when they received their wages last Saturday.

VEHICLE ORDINANCE.

The Committee Will Report Tomorrow Night.

The passage of the proposed vehicle ordinance is questioned by many. The street committee, to whom the matter was referred, will report to council tomorrow night the result of their investigations and the alterations that they deem it wise to make in the original outlines of the ordinance. Councilman Owen is opposed to the measure and will vote against it becoming a law. He said that he did not favor any ordinance that would tax one person and not another.

A DISGUSTING SPECTACLE.

A Woman Arrested in a Debauched Condition Saturday Night.

At a late hour Saturday night the attention of Special Officer Welch was called to the actions of a woman in an alley near the lower end of Washington street. The woman was in a beastly state of intoxication, and reeling about in an unsteady manner. She was arrested and taken to city hall. She said that her name was Alice Shears, and her home Wellsville. Yesterday morning the mayor fined her $5.75, which she paid and was given her freedom.

Chamberlain's Cough remedy gives the best satisfaction of any cough medicine I handle, and as a seller leads all other preparations in this market. I recommend it because it is the best medicine I ever handled for coughs, cold and croup. A. W. BALDRIDGE, Millersville, Ill. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Ed Gallagher was arrested today for disturbing the Salvation Army meeting yesterday afternoon. He pleaded not guilty and will be given a hearing tomorrow.

PERSONAL MENTION.

—Robert Logan went to East Palestine to visit friends today.

—Will Lear, of Wheeling, spent Sunday with relatives here.

—Thomas Abrams and wife, of Hancock county, are visiting friends in the city.

—Capt. J. L. Morris, of Seventh street, went to Tabor, Carroll county, on business this morning.

—Miss Nellie Cannon, of Sixth street, returned home Saturday after visiting friends in Sallineville.

—Councilman John J. Purinton will go to Columbus tomorrow to attend the state convention of the Republican party.

—Harry C. Sedam, formerly of this city, but now travelling for a New York firm, passed through this city on the morning train, westward bound.

CONSUMPTION AND OLD AGE

The Cause of Two Deaths Sunday Night.

John Woolmaker, aged 73 years, died at his residence on the corner of Mulberry street and Church alley last night. The cause of his death is attributed to old age. The funeral will take place from his late residence on Wednesday afternoon at 12 o'clock. Burial services will be conducted by Rev. Lee, D. D. Interment at Spring Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Patrick Toulon, of the West End, died at her late home last night, from an attack of consumption. Deceased leaves a husband and a number of children. The funeral occurs tomorrow afternoon. Interment in Catholic cemetery.

IN CONSULTATION

With Some of the Members of the Light Committee.

W. J. Hanley, a representative of the General Electric company, of Cincinnati, is in the city today for the purpose of consulting with the members of the light committee of council with a view to entering into negotiations with the city to build an electric light plant here. Mr. Hanley has had wide experience in the construction of municipal plants and will submit a proposition to the committee to be taken under advisement.

AN EXHIBITION.

A New Electric Motor Undergoing Inspection.

The Ceramic City light company have placed on exhibition at their plant today a three phase motor of 10 light power capacity. A number of manufacturers are examining it, and considering the advisability of introducing this improved machine in their works as motive power for machinery. It differs from the old style of motors in that it operates from an alternating generator.

BOUND TO A BOARD.

Shameful Treatment of a Lad at the Dresden.

A lad employed at the Dresden pottery was shamefully abused by an older employee on the pottery yesterday. The lad was bound tightly to a board and when released his limbs were covered with black and blue marks. The boy's mother called at the pottery, and in strong terms denounced the perpetrator of the outrage.

A RAN AWAY.

A Youth Leaves His Home and Now Writes For Money to Return.

John Owen, Jr., a lad residing with his parents on Sixth street, ran away from home last Saturday and wound up at Akron yesterday. A letter was received from the repentant son asking for funds to pay his passage home.

Perhaps you would not think so, out a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Doctor Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Completed the Ticket.

The following are the Prohibition candidates for school board as filed with the election board: First ward—Dr. W. M. Cathoun, 1 year; Mrs. Warren Crawford, 2 years. Second ward—Mrs. R. W. Watson, 1 year; Sol J. Faulk, 2 years. Third ward—Mrs. R. B. Whitehead, 1 year; Murray Nickle, 2 years. Fourth ward—J. C. McClain, 1 year; Alex McGraw, 2 years.

A Break Down.

On Saturday night George Zink had a break down on Lincoln avenue. He left the wagon standing while he went for assistance; returning, it was found that a sneak thief had stolen the hold back straps from the wagon.

FRANCISCO MIRANDA.

Weld in Reverence in Venezuela as a Pioneer of Liberty.

Francisco Miranda was a type of the reckless fighter and adventurer always dear to the hero worshiper, and he was so closely identified with the inception of Venezuela's revolution against Spain that he will always be held as a national hero.

He was born in Caracas in 1756 and entered the Spanish military service when he was 17. He served in the United States in 1780 and later in Cuba. He was forced to leave Cuba for some illegal transaction, and for several years led an adventurous life in Russia, Turkey, England and Germany. He went into the French service at the outbreak of the revolution and by brilliant service reached the rank of major general. His name is on the Arc de Triomphe in Paris, as one of the great captains of the revolution. His reckless and adventurous spirit apparently kept him in constant conflict with sober law, for in 1797 he was condemned by the directory, but escaped to England. Receiving no aid in England, he came to the United States.

Here he put into motion his scheme of freeing his native country from the Spanish rule. He found means to equip two small vessels, and with 200 volunteers he sailed for Venezuela. He landed early in 1806 and was attacked by a superior Spanish force, losing many of his men. The Spanish captain burned Miranda in effigy and offered $50,000 for his capture. He reconquered his forces, and a few months later took a Spanish town, but did not succeed in arousing the people to revolution.

It was some time later that he met Bolivar and with him went to Europe to secure aid for their enterprise.

When they returned in December, 1810, Miranda organized the first republican government, which was made possible by the uprising of the people in April, 1810. He was vice president of congress and signed the constitution and the act of independence. He was commander of the army and won several victories over the Spanish, but his disregard for all proprieties finally got him into trouble. His fellow officers among the revolutionists turned against him, he was accused of being a traitor to the cause, and in 1812 he was taken prisoner by his own party.

He was allowed to fall into the hands of the Spanish authorities, who sent him to Cadiz in 1813 as a political prisoner. Three years later, on July 14, 1816, he died.—New York Mail and Express.

Americans in Nova Scotia.

A lady of Nova Scotia, writing to the Boston Transcript, says that the Americans who visit Nova Scotia are almost without exception pleasant and well-mannered people. "We note some slight difference between their speech and ours. Their voices are higher and sharper, and they are more up to date as to slang. I am afraid that in our heart of hearts we feel ourselves a little superior in repose of manner, for the rollicking enjoyment of the ordinary American when on a holiday in Nova Scotia is, perhaps, too evident. But when the patience with which they endure many inconveniences, the zest with which they enter into any pleasures that come in their way, and the good will with which they are ever ready to help any charitable scheme which may be afoot in a place where they are staying are put in the scale against the loudness which sometimes offends us, the trifling peculiarity kicks the beam."

Amusements Tonight.

This being the initial performance and ladies' free night at the opera house, the Wilson Theater company will undoubtedly have a packed house. The company is an extraordinarily large one, and carry a large amount of scenery and mechanical effects. Miss Mamie Phelps, the soubrette, was for two seasons with Hoyts "Trip to China Town," and is the brightest little thing imaginable. Edwin R. Whalen, the comedian, is well known, having appeared in all the larger cities with the great American Extravaganza company in "Sinbad." Don't miss seeing the "White Slave." It is a wonderful play of nature.

Married in Cleveland.

Notice to Candidates.

The names of all candidates for nomination on the Republican ticket for the municipal and township primary election, to be held Saturday, March 21, must be handed to the secretary of the Republican central committee not later than 7 p. m. of Wednesday, March 11, 1896. By order of committee.

D. F. NELLIS, Chairman,
JAMES N. HANLEY, Secretary.

Recovering.

Mr. Harry McMaisters, of East End, who has been suffering with the fever for the past month, is recovering.

Improving.

Mrs. Archie Searight, of the East End, is slowly improving, after an illness extending over five months.

Stole the Dog.

Emmet McGlashan, of McKinnon's addition, had a beagle hound stolen from him on Saturday.

Rivans Tablets for your stomach.
Rivans Tablets—standard remedy.

WANTED—TWO BRIGHT YOUNG ladies of refinement, respectability and good address, to accompany a gentleman on a business tour to southern and eastern cities. Position very profitable and thoroughly respectable. Expenses allowed. Reference required. Address W. S. S., this office.

COBHAM OF DICKENS.

A VILLAGE IMMORTALIZED IN THE "PICKWICK PAPERS."

Articles of Interest in the Room Which Is the Pride of Mine Host of the "Leather Bottle"—An Antique Church and the Brasses It Contains.

Less than an hour and a half from London is the quiet little station at Stole street, named, I suppose, in honor of a Roman road and trodden by travelers as they approach the manifold glories of Cobham.

Cobham, the Kentish Cobham, is one of those places in which Kent is so rich, favored alike by nature and art and historical association. For what is called park scenery it has few superiors in England. The church has memorials of its fourteenth century lords as fresh as when they felt the last touch of the workman's tools, while the inn opposite is redolent with the memories of Charles Dickens, and the ruddy old Elizabethan hall is one of the stateliest homes in England—a real home, constantly lived in.

To see Cobham in its glory one must of course visit it in summer. It is hardly fair to go there, as I did, on a weeping autumn day, though it was full of a charm of its own. In the first place, the season precluded my approaching Cobham from the orthodox way—from the back of the ancient buildings which form the new college. The boy who acts as porter at the station did not recommend the short cut for a very wet day. It had recently been plowed. So, passing first an old Kentish black and white house to the left and then a fine red brick Georgian mansion (described by him as a farm) to the right, I strode up the main street of Cobham village to where a putative leather bottle swings in front of the inn which Dickens immortalized in "Pickwick." The leather bottle, which, proudly labeled "Ecco Signum," swings over a sign of Dickens' Mr. Pickwick standing on a chair with his hands under his coat tails, is, as matter of fact, made of cast iron and weighs no less than 40 pounds, the real bottle being kept on the top of the clock in the bar parlor, guarded by an unceremonious looking monkey and a dog. It is shaped like a barrel, with a combined stopper and handle on one side, and has a large hole cut out just below the handle, the reason of this being that when it was dug out of a field hard by it weighed so heavy that the finder hacked a hole to see what was in it. He was rewarded by finding money, which was probably exactly what he wanted to find.

The inn claims to be as old as the chance of the church opposite, which would make it fourteenth century. Even the aspect of the much repaired exterior does not make this impossible, and the rough, worm-eaten, dark oak beams in the low ceiling of the Dickens room certainly look old enough. The Dickens room is the pride of mine host and brings Cobham visits from a host of theatrical people, who certainly would never visit it for the sake of its lords, ancient or modern, and their hall and church and college. In the visitors' book I read such names as W. S. Penley and J. L. Toole, the latter accompanied by Mr. Clement Scott, and over the mantelpiece hung a pretty theatrical portrait of Miss Mary Anderson, with her hands tied together in some character which I did not recognize—her memento of a visit here.

The walls are hung with prints of various characters and scenes in Dickens' books, Dickens' programmes, sketches, and what not, among them being The Graphic's picture of the "Empty Chair," which made Luke Fildes' name, and Dickens' last letter (in autograph), dated June 8, 1870, in reply to a Non-conformist minister named Matcham, a letter about "Edwin Drood," and with a pathetic and particular interest, because Dickens in this last letter of his life avows that he had always cherished Christianity—even written a book to bring it home to his children, though he had not proclaimed his belief from the house top. Jingle, Sidney Carton, the devoted, and Pecksniff are among the more prominent characters on the walls. All around the room there are rows of old fashioned chairs, the place of honor being occupied by the Dickens chair—a flat topped article of the variety known to old furniture dealers as "The Windsor."

Whatever the claims of the "Leather Bottle" to fourteenth century honors, there is no doubt of the antiquity of the church, though the age of the exterior, except the tower's, is obliterated with a facing of flints. Two gigantic flints, one of them at least 4 feet by 2, lie on the grass below. The interior of the church, once ruined with plaster and whitewash, is now carefully restored and highly interesting. First in importance, of course, come its monumental brasses, some 30 of them, not erected, but laid down on the chancel floor to the honor of the lords and ladies of Cobham and the masters of their college. These brasses have no superiors in England, and go as far back as the beginning of the fourteenth century. Not a line is obliterated in these graven images of the knights and dames—the one in full armor, the other in the height of fashion. Tradition says that in Cromwell's time they were saved from the heavy hand of the spoiler by being first whitewashed to escape notice, and then covered with deep litter for the stabling of my lord protector's horses. I think that they must have been further saved by wooden floors being laid over the flags on which they rest for a few odd centuries.—London Queen.

A Chicagoan Gibe.

"I see they're going to change the name of Wall street," said Mr. Futsan-kall.

"Is that so?"

"Yes. They're going to call it Wall street."

"What a crying shame!"—Chicago Journal.

BEAUTIFUL JAPANESE CATHEDRAL.
And Its Unique Way of Protection From Fire by Fountains.

When foreign architects visit Japan and see the cathedral of Buddhism for the first time, they are generally astonished at the magnificent structure. It is executed in pure oriental style and is richly ornamented with carvings. H. Ito, a famous builder of Nagoya City, designed it. The structure was commenced in 1878 and was completed in 1895. The cost has been estimated at $17,000,000. It would have greatly exceeded this amount had not numbers of Buddhists worked without any recompense.

As the structure neared completion the committee having the work in charge was much perplexed as to fire insurance. They found that no company would assume the risk on such a valuable wooden structure, the danger of destruction by fire being very great, and thus the premiums would amount to an enormous sum of money. At last the committee decided on a design devised by Dr. Tanabe. Numbers of powerful fountains were constructed, both exterior and interior, which can be made to play on all parts of the structure at the same time.

Usually only one great ornamental fountain is playing, rising to the great height of 157 feet. This is probably the largest artificial fountain in existence, emitting 82,080 gallons per hour. In case of fire all the water pressure is directed through the numbers of exterior and interior fountains. Thus every part of the structure, both inside and out, could soon be drenched and any conflagration soon extinguished.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Learned In One Lesson.

A truly remarkable story of feline intelligence was lately told by a correspondent of the London Spectator. Indeed, it might fairly be called incredible, only that the correspondent, as will be seen, vouches for its truth.

I am induced to send you an account of a remarkable instance of feline sagacity which occurred in my house last week.

About a fortnight ago my black Persian cat brought to the house a young sparrow, and taking it to the front door, began stripping it of its feathers. The cook, not approving of the litter made by the said feathers, doubled the mat over and told the cat he must not make such a litter, but strew the feathers on the wrong side of the mat and not on the top.

A fortnight afterward the cat brought in another bird and, marvelous to say, turned the mat—which was a heavy coat mat—over with his claws, and littered the wrong side of it with the feathers, precisely as the cook had told him to do. This is absolutely true, and without exaggeration.

At the present time the United States has 144 garrisoned forts, arsenals or military posts occupied by its troops.

A severe rheumatic pain in the left shoulder had troubled Mr. J. H. Loper, a well known druggist of Des Moines, Iowa, for over six months. At times the pain was so severe that he could not lift anything. With all he could do he could not get rid of it until he applied Chamberlain's Pain balm. "I only made three applications of it," he says, "and have since been free from all pain." He now recommends it to persons similarly afflicted. It is for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Given Judgment.
